Thermostat lowering may be forced soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration has drawn up plans that could require homeowners who use heating oil to turn their thermostats down six degrees from where they were last year.

Other users of oil heat, including commercial and government buildings, could be forced to lower temperatures ten degrees or make equivalent fuel savings.

The plans are contained in the administration's proposal for rationing of heating oil, to be published today in the Federal Register.

A draft of the proposed regulations was obtained by The Associated Press and verified by administration sources.

The regulations also would guarantee certain high-priority users anywhere from 90 per cent of last year's fuel oil supply to 100 per cent of their needs this year.

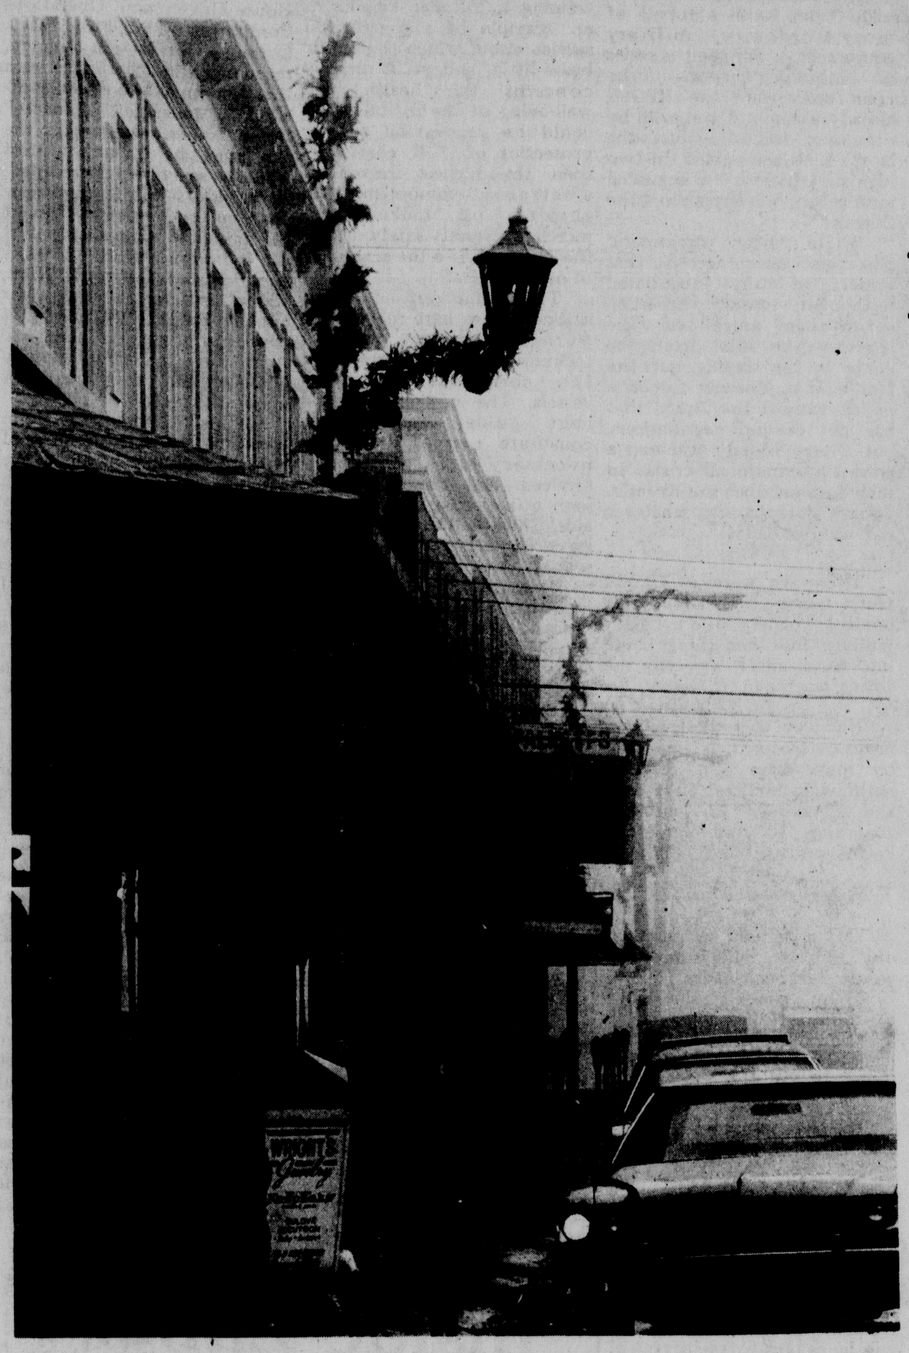
Barring unforeseen complications, the regulations will take effect Jan. 1.

Under the plan, dealers would be legally required to impose the reductions upon the heating oil delivered to their customers. Purchasers would not need coupons to receive their rations.

The dealers would be required to calculate and distribute the correct amounts according to the formula set by the regulations.

Oil dealers could be fined up to $5,000 for each violation of the regulations, which forbid them to discriminate in deliveries or contract terms among customers within each category.

The priority uses include fuel production and distribution; public transportation; farming; food processing and distribution, industry; cargo and mail hauling; municipal police, fire and sanitation services and medical establishments.



Unlighted decorations go up

Downtown Sikeston's Christmas decorations were all but lost in the fog this morning. The decorations were put up Monday on street light poles in the downtown area. Bill Pickett, treasurer of the Sikeston Metro Association, which sponsors the decorations, said the electric lights in the lantern fixtures will not be used this year in order to comply with measures to conserve energy nationwide.

Many stations already closing on Sundays

Most service station owners and managers in Sikeston seem to be willing to go along with President Richard Nixon's request that service stations close from 9 p.m. Saturday to midnight Sunday.

Nine of 18 service station owners and managers contacted said their stations are already closed on Sunday and therefore will not be affected by the request. Most of the nine reported that Sunday closing had not really hurt their business.

Although already closed on Sundays, Vernon Freeland, owner of Freeland Standard Service, 309 E. Malone Ave., said "If that is what it takes, I'd rather see that than rationing or a higher tax on gas."

Jerry Galemore, owner of Galemore Spanish 66 Service Station, 600 N. Main St., said he closed on Sunday because "it was either close on Sunday or run out of gas."

Bill Hailey, owner of Hailey's Mobil Service Station, 620 S. Kingshighway, who is also closed on Sunday, said it won't make a lot of difference for local stations but will make a difference to those located along interstate highways.

In reference to the 15 per cent cut in production Nixon says he will order, Hailey said that action would hurt him because he sells every drop he can get now.

Sign of the times

Many service stations in Sikeston are expected to start displaying signs like this one by this weekend. The station closings are being made in compliance with President Nixon's fuel - saving measures requested in a Sunday night address on the energy crisis. One station owner says a large percentage of his sales will be affected since he sells about 800 gallons of gas on a normal weekday and more than 1,200 gallons on a normal Sunday.

Although he has been closing on Sundays for six years, Lloyd Forbis, owner of Maple Oil Co., 1411 W. Malone Ave., believes Sunday closing of service stations is one of the ways to conserve fuel. He added that it will be a hardship for some people but thinks those problems can be worked out.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Friend, owners of Friend's Service Station, 881 W. Malone, have always closed on Sundays. "We just have to have one day a week to rest," Mrs. Friend said.

Bob Hampton, owner of East Shell Service Station, 1101 E. Malone, said, "I don't much like it, but I'm going along with him (Nixon)." He believes it will hurt his business for awhile until everyone gets used to it.

Denny Breedlove of Chapman's Gulf Service, 905 S. Main St., is going to close on Sunday. He reported that the station usually does a lot of business on Sunday.

"So far I love it," Bobby Harris, manager of A & B Oil Co., 1631 E. Malone, said in reference to the closing. He is anxious to have a day off and doesn't think it will make much difference in sales.

Robert Grimm, owner of Holiday 66 Service Station, Highway 61 South, plans to go along with the voluntary closing. "I don't think it will affect me too much. I need a rest anyway," he said.

"I don't think we're going to close on Sundays," Joe Leible, owner of Leible's Midway Service Station, Highway 62 East. "If people quit traveling, I'll close." Leible explained that he depends on interstate business, and closing on Sundays would hurt his business.

Mrs. John Ward, wife of the manager of Shell-Town Service Center, Highway 60, said that closing on Sunday would hurt them, but they were planning to go along with Nixon's request.

"I don't know if we will close until they absolutely make us," said Deano Aldridge, manager of South Side Oil Co., Highway 61 South. He thinks the request is reasonable and is a good idea.

Death of East Prairie youth ruled suicide

EAST PRAIRIE-- The death of 18- year- old Jerry Don Russell has been ruled suicide by hanging by Mississippi County Coroner Elgin McMikle. No inquest will be held.

McMikle said the body of the youth, who had been missing from his home since Nov. 13, was found about 11 a.m. Monday on a ditch bank about one mile north of East Prairie by Raymond Brown of East Prairie while hunting.

A rawhide leather belt was buckled around the youth's neck and was attached at one end to an imitation leather belt which had apparently been looped over a tree limb. The imitation belt had broken and the body was lying on the ground.

An 11th grade student at East Prairie High School, he was born Nov. 20, 1955 in Cape Girardeau to Joe J. Russell and Mattie May Russell of East Prairie, who survive.

Also surviving are two

Sloan accused in rape case

Jimmy Sloan, 24, Route Two, was arrested Monday by police. He is accused of statutory rape.

Sloan was arrested after the mother of a 14- year- old girl told police that he had sexual relations with her daughter.

Police said Sloan's bond would be set sometime today.

Use Yule lighting sparingly

While people in other parts of the country are being asked not to use Christmas lighting this year, Sikeston Light and Water Co.is making no such appeal.

Dick Inman, director of municipal utilities, said the company is not discouraging Christmas lighting, but neither is it encouraging it.

If people are going to use Christmas lighting, Inman suggested they use it inside and use outside lighting sparingly. He asked residents to use no more lights than they did last year.

Inman added that light and water crews are putting up Christmas decorations downtown, but will hold off a while on the lighting.

The reason Sikeston can continue to have Christmas lights this year, Inman said is because the city gets its power from coal generators and the Southwestern Power Administration, which gets its power from hydro-electric plants.

Neither coal nor water are in short supply.

Inman said that only if a national law banning Christmas lighting is passed will residents be asked to curtail their use of Christmas lights.

Robbery suspect arraigned

Franklin David McIntosh of Winchester, Ky., was arraigned in Magistrate Court today in connection with the armed robbery last Friday of the Quick Shop on South Main Street.

Bond was set at $10,000. McIntosh is already under federal bond of $10,000 for transporting a stolen car across state lines.

McIntosh allegedly walked into the Quick Shop about 6 p.m. Friday and ordered the sales clerks to empty the cash register containing more than $100. He was allegedly armed with a long barrel .38 caliber revolver.

The robber locked the clerks and a customer in the freezer compartment of the store and then fled.

The van truck McIntosh was driving was stopped a short time later by special officer Z. T. Jackson. Jackson brought McIntosh back to the store, but the clerks could not positively identify him. Police said he had changed clothes and the clerks were still upset.

McIntosh was allowed to return to his room at the Holiday Inn, but police were still suspicious of him. After the desk clerk at the motel said McIntosh fitted the description of the holdup man, Lt. Walter Wilson shined his flashlight into the van truck McIntosh was driving. He could see a brown leather jacket inside.

A 13- year - old boy who had been with McIntosh when Officer Jackson first stopped him, was picked up while walking along South Main Street. He told police that McIntosh had said he was going to rob the store.

Scott to request attorney general opinion on landfill controversy

BENTON— Landowners and residents of the Illmo, Scott City and Commerce areas appeared before the Scott County Court Monday to continue their fight against establishment of a Mississippi County landfill on 80 acres of Scott County land owned by Herb Pickett of rural Illmo.

The opposition group's chief objection has been that a watershed from the land would pollute Holden Creek, which runs through adjoining land which is used to water livestock.

"We feel that our property value will be financially hurt if Mississippi County is permitted to operate a landfill in that location, one owner remarked.

Others said the group has hired an attorney to check possible legal action to prevent Mississippi County from locating in Scott County, but added that more help is needed.

The landowners said they are afraid that if Mississippi County is permitted to operate a landfill in Scott County, other counties may want to do the same.

The group told the County Court it thinks Mississippi County should stay in its own county.

Mississippi County has reported difficulty in finding a suitable landfill site within its boundaries because the water table is too high.

Bill Winchester, presiding judge of the Mississippi County Court, has said efforts to reach a landfill agreement with Scott County have been unsuccessful and that his county must have an acceptable plan ready by the first of the year, so the county began looking at sites in north Scott County.

The Scott County judges told the group there was nothing they could do to stop Mississippi County from owning land in Scott County but promised to request Prosecuting Attorney Jim Moore to ask Atty. Gen. John Danforth for an opinion.

Cooperation is key to ambulance system in Scott-New Madrid

A bi- county ambulance system is presently being developed for Scott and New Madrid counties through the joint efforts of several groups and will be administered by Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

For this system, Scott County has purchased one ambulance, New Madrid County has ordered one ambulance, and the City of Sikeston, using $7,000 in funds donated by the Sikeston Jaycees, is purchasing two emergency vehicles.

The four ambulances will service the area of southern Scott County and northern New Madrid County. The two County Courts are currently negotiating for services for the remainder of each county through similar systems.

All ambulances are being purchased with state assistance through plans approved by the Bureau of Emergency Medical Services.

Instrumental in the development of the bi-county plan are the Scott County Court, New Madrid County Court, Missouri Delta Community Hospital, City of Sikeston, Sikeston Jaycees and the Bootheel Comprehensive Health Council.

The four- ambulance system is a direct result of recommendations of the comprehensive health plan developed by the Bootheel Comprehensive Health Council.

For over a year residents of the six- county Bootheel area, working on the emergency care task force, have met to develop the best solution possible to the current ambulance problem.

Staffing arrangements, as well as many of the intricate details of management and financing, are being worked on at the present time.

An education curriculum to certify the attendants through a national registry is currently being finalized through the joint efforts of the vocational department of Sikeston Public Schools and Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

The 81- hour Department of Transportation course for ambulance attendants will be used.

An ambulance operational plan for one ambulance to be operated by Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti to serve the southern portion of New Madrid County has been disapproved by the Bureau of Emergency Medical services, according to John K. Wallace, director. But the county was asked to submit another operational plan for such an ambulance.

The plan was disapproved because the response time for an ambulance coming to the

WATERGATE AND SECURITY

The Chairman of the House Committee on Internal Security — Richard H. Ichord (D-Mo.) — warns that certain persons and organizations are "trying to take advantage of Watergate to destroy America's security programs."

Ichord, in an interview with the American Security Council's WASHINGTON REPORT, said: "I think it is imperative that we recognize that in the emotions and confusions surrounding the recent revelation of illegal surveillance activities, burglaries, and illegal break-ins, there are some people and organizations in this country motivated by both good and bad intentions, who are trying to take advantage of the situation and destroy America's security programs."

Ichord said his nine-man committee will hold hearings to determine just how far the FBI can go in domestic intelligence and whether new measures are needed to reinforce government security and loyalty programs.

"What we are concerned with in these hearings," said Ichord, "is FBI domestic intelligence activities — on-going investigations as opposed to closed-in ones. On-going investigations are the domestic intelligence activities of the FBI. Closed-in investigations are those to gather evidence to prosecute a specific crime.

"There are efforts in this country to stop on-going investigations altogether. If they succeed, all of your security programs will go out the window, because the domestic intelligence activities of the FBI are the very foundations of those three security programs. Without the domestic intelligence furnished by the FBI no such programs can be operated."

Ichord said it is vital that domestic intelligence programs be carried out effectively and without resort to witch-hunting or Watergate type "plumbers" operations.

"I want to speak very frankly," said Ichord, "both to conservatives and to liberals. The surest way to guarantee the excesses of another McCarthy era in the future is to destroy these programs. For one of the principal causes of such excesses in the 50's was the almost total absence of any such effective programs.

"Our interest is to see that such activities are carried out not only vigorously, intelligently and fairly, but also with due regard for the consitutional rights of all American citizens. What we're concerned about here is a proper balance of the security interests of the nation against the rights of the individual."

As Mr. Thurman Taylor comments in the News Digest, published by the Associated Oregon Industries, Inc., "Gloom purveyors love to call the United States the 'sick' society. Because the U. S. fails to measure up to their utopian standards, they claim that revolutionary changes are necessary. Hardly ever do they mention some of the benefits of living in this nation. We have the highest living standard in the world. Our national income equals that of the next six highest nations combined. While half of the world subsists on $100 per capita income a year, the U. S. enjoys an average of $3,600. Even the highly developed West European nations have per capita incomes of only about $1,600. Russians, living in an alleged 'workers' paradise,' average $800 a year. A mere six percent of the world's population lives in the U. S. Yet it graduates as many from high school as all the nations in the world combined. We also have more college graduates than the total of all the other nations. Professional pessimists often cite the number of American poor, some 15 per cent of our population. But if 15 per cent are poor, 85 per cent are not poor. Most countries would be pleased if they had such low poverty figures."

It was related that a Sikeston woman complained to a woman in her neighborhood that the neighbor never fondled the baby when she called at her home. "You don't keep it clean enough for anyone to want to kiss it," the neighbor replied, and the coolness that followed lasted the rest of their lives.

We don't like the expression, "prostrated with grief." We don't like this lying down before trouble anyway.

More bureaucracy we don't need, but the Civil Service Commission reports, "... near- record numbers of college graduate applications for federal employment." For every vacancy, there are 11 to 14 qualified college candidates. Says a Washington news release, "... Uncle Sam seems to have its pick of the college trained work force." Although it is unfortunate that so many young people reject challenging careers in private business and industry, it should be kept in mind that those seeking the federal security blanket remain in minority.

Private business and professions are the real center of action and accomplishment where the great battle to advance technology, environmental quality and produce the jobs, goods and services that will raise the quality of human life will be won.

The future of our nation will never be in doubt as long as most of our young people know this and act accordingly.

INDEPENDENT PROBE VITAL

President Nixon's tactics of "fighting back" against the Watergate charges apparently are based on convincing the public that he is making full disclosure of all the facts. A first step is being taken this week in a series of conferences with Republican congressmen. Later, some Democratic congressmen will be called in to hear Nixon's story.

Also, the President told congressional leaders he planned to make public the White House tape recordings and other Watergate documents after they were submitted to the federal grand jury.

President Nixon is on the right track if he wants to clear himself with the public and restore his moral authority to lead the nation. But it will be difficult for him to accomplish this unless he goes farther and subjects himself to a thorough, impartial investigation.

Nixon has destroyed his own credibility with the public by his long and persistent resistance to givingup documents, givingup tapes, allowing members of his staff to testify and so on. There has been so much deceptive propaganda issued from the White House that nothing but the most thorough exposure now can remove the taint.

This requires, in our opinion, an independent prosecutor not subject to removal by the President.The appointment of Leon Jaworski is totally unsatisfactory.

Senator Charles H. Percy (Rep., Ill.), not noted for being a Nixon supporter, said he thought the President's meeting with the Republican congressmen was "the beginning of full and total disclosure." Percy said that at least nine hours would be spent by the President "being interrogated" by members of Congress.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR A prosecutor with a free hand to dig into the Watergate crimes, we believe he is mistaken. Perhaps at an early stage of the Watergate mess Nixon could have got away with the defensive maneuvers he is now making. Instead, in the summer of 1972 there were declarations that the White House staff and the administration had nothing to do with Watergate. The public was led to believe that the Watergate burglars were a rash group of patriots who thought they were on the trail of subversive activity.

With that background, Nixon can't get by now by merely telling the public he is making full disclosure. The public will not be satisfied with interrogation by Republican congressmen but will require an independent probe.

Senator George Aiken (Rep. Vt.) may have the best idea. He said last week, "It makes no sense to me to ask the President to prosecute himself. Yet any special prosecutor in the Justice Department will find himself in that ridiculous position. Aiken's answer is impeachment.

"It is the clear duty of the House, through whatever procedures it chooses, to frame a charge of impeachment and set itself a deadline for the task. If no agreement can be reached by that deadline, the leaders of the House should tell the American people that no agreed charge could be found. That is the way to begin to restore confidence."

We do not know whether impeachment is the only way to get all the facts. We are certain that interviews with congressmen and making public the documents that go to the grand jury are not enough. An indepenent prosecution, such as that being carried on by ARchibald Cox until stopped by President Nixon, is indispensable. That may or may not lead to impeachment.

President Nixon's request for $2.2 billion in emergency aid for Israel (and for $200 million for Cambodia) indicates that detente is not all it's cracked up to be. Moreover, the very fact that the President has dispatched a "limited number" of U. S. military personnel to Isreal (shades of Vietnam) in connection with the American arms lift suggests that the Administration realizes it is faced with a very serious situation.

What seems to be crystal clear, of course, is that Moscow has been the central cause of the Mideast conflict. Instead of pressing for a negotiated settlement, fair to all sides, the Soviets, through massively re-equipping Egypt and Syria and goading other Arab nations to join in the assault against Israel, have produced an international crisis that has blood flowing on both sides.

Placing the blame squarely on Moscow, Sen. Henry Jackson (.-Wash.) said: "Since the Six-Day War (in 1967), the Soviet Union has engaged in one of the largest military buildups in their history, supplying guns, tanks, aircraft and missiles to Egypt and Syria in huge quantities and under the cover of the cease-fire."

Soviet irresponsibility, says Jackson, did not stop with the outbreak of the war. Secretary Brezhnev, violating the letter as well as the spirit of agreements reached with the United States in Moscow last year, did his best "to urge other Arab states to join the attack against Israel. Then the Soviets undertook a massive airlift of weapons into Syria and Egypt, resupplying the Egyptian and Syrian armies with sophisticated military hardware."

In resupplying Egypt, Syria and Iraq, columnist Joseph Alsop pointed out that the Soviets delivered close to 6,000 new tanks, an almost limitless number of the "most advanced Soviet anti-aircraft missiles, the SAM -2 improved, the SAM-3, and the particularly troublesome SAM-6..."

In addition, the Soviets -- aside from lavish amounts of more ordinary military equipment -- supplied a series of anit-tank weapons. "The main ones were the RPG-7, already unhappily met with by our own forces against the North Vietnamese, and the two highly efficient wireguided tank-killers, the Sapper and the Sagger."

While most diplomatic observers have agreed that Israel, in any negotiated settlement, would have to relinquish much of the territory she took from the Arabs in the six-day war, the fact is that Moscow forged a policy toward the Arabs that has not created negotiations, but a very bloody war and a grave, international crisis. In such fashion does the Kremlin pursue detente, or whatever you want to call it.

NO PLACE TO CUT

Herculean efforts to trim government spending and curb inflation - breeding growth of bureaucracy carry the inevitable risk that certain essential government services will be caught by the scythe of cost cutting. Such was the case sometime ago when funds were omitted from the U. S. Maritime Administration's proposed budget providing for the continued operation of radar training schools.

These schools are necessary since Coast Guard regulations require that the licenses of merchant vessel deck officers include radar endorsements. Moreover, an official of the American institute of Merchant Shipping has pointed out that the Ports and Waterways Safety Act of 1972 requires that "positive steps" be taken by the federal government to prevent pollution of water resources through improved navigation and vessel construction requirements. The official said that because of this legislative mandate to further the goal of pollution abatement, the radar training schools should not be closed, as radar has become "an increasingly important part of a merchant marine officer's training ..." Radar training is an example of a government service about which the public hears little, and yet it directly concerns the health and well-being of the nation. What could be more vital to the protection of U. S. coast-lines than the highest degree of electronic competence in guiding oil tankers and merchant vessels safely across the seas and into the sanctuary of our seaports?

The oil industry and U. S. shipping lines have relentlessly pursued every possible technological breakthrough in the construction of new vessels. The navigational aids that guide those vessels constitute one of the most necessary of government services, and there must be men qualified to utilize those aids. That is the purpose of government radar training schools. Such schools should most assuredly not be lumped in with the cost- cutting battle against the growth of a top-heavy welfare bureaucracy. These are horses of an entirely different color, and the difference should be apparent to everyone.

"CONSUMER PROTECTION" AGENCY WOULD HURT ALL

Testimony before the House Government Operations Committee on a bill to create a Consumer Protection Agency, most often in accordance with the recommendations of self-styled "consumer advocate" Ralph Nader, shows that the tide may be turning against Nader's so- called "crusade." Even past supporters are now changing their views. Two of the principal witnesses against the bill were a CBS- TV news commentator, Jeffrey St. John, and a professor at Yale Law School, Ralph K. Winter. The news media and the academic world have tended to support Nader's campaigns unquestioningly.

In his testimony, St. John admitted that "the premises of consumerism in general and the attack on advertising in particular have received few critical challenges, largely the consequences of a bias in the broadcast and printed press which, until recently, assumed Ralph Nader beyond error."

Professor Winter's testimony focused on the harm the proposed agency would do to the very people it was supposed to help: consumers, particularly the poor.

Professor Winter testified: "I fear the Consumer Protection Agency may injure the low- income consumer by increasing the price of a large number of products. To be sure, law can compel the production of 'better' products, but only by increasing their cost. It can also compel, at a cost to all consumers, the dissemination of detailed production information which is of interest and value only to the highly educated. These measures must decrease output and, in particular, the production of cheaper products." Both witnesses emphatically urged the committee to reject the Consumer Protection Agency bill. Other wise citizens should do likewise. HLH

Inside Labor

Bloody Labor Strife:
Meany's Drive to Destroy Nixon, Champion Chavez Heaves AFL- CIO Into National War With Teamsters

WASHINGTON-- Labor's giants are lining up against each other this holiday season, and it appears there'll be a civil war of the clangorous, bloody type about which old- timers in this "movement" reminisce.

It will sweep peace from the good earth of California and might spread chaos onto the concrete walks of big cities and the open field construction sites of the land.

Boycotts and counterboycotts appear inevitable as broad- shouldered labor chief George Meany champions Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers and charges Dick Nixon daily with domestic treachery.

There's no energy death on this front as Frank (Fitz) Fitzsimmons and his powerful 2.2 million- member Teamsters Brotherhood counterthrust, denounce Meany and rally to the President. Inherent in all this is the fact of life inside labor that anything Meany can boycott, Fitz's forces can boycott better.

Fitzsimmons, speaking for his Teamsters Brotherhood, said the other day that "some men in organized labor suggest impeachment of the President. This certainly isn't the cause for which unions were founded. We, whether it is Meany, Leonard Woodcock (president of the auto union-- VR) or I, don't have the right to commit our national labor unions to take up such a cause. There are due processes. We do have the right to call our people to political action but, I repeat, unions have no right to demand the ouster of a President of the United States. The Congress has the responsibility."

Fitz endorsed the confirmation of Vice President-designate Gerry Ford. The Teamsters chief opined that this nation faces grim leadership if some tragic quirk delays the confirmation and Speaker Carl Albert becomes President. Bluntly, Fitzsimmons referred to Albert's taking an extra drink or two-- but in far more graphic language than I care to use here.

As for Meany's triphammer blows at President Nixon, the Teamsters president added, "I believe in this guy and I believe, and the Teamsters do too, that he'll come out all right. I think he's the greatest President and I phoned and assured him of our support. He's done more for this country in achieving peace than any other President and he alone can be accredited with quieting the war in Israel. So we endorsed him for reelection and we endorse him now regardless of what Meany says or does."

Well, that'a a war of words and position papers. More volatile now is the war on the farm front. The Teamsters, says Fitz, just are not going to give up those field workers contracts "no matter what Meany does."

Fitzsimmons said the Teamsters can't unilaterally walk away from those California growers contracts. They're quite a bundle and cover 30,000 to 40,000 produce "ranch" hands. Further, a growers spokesman has threatened to "sue him to death" if the Teamsters break the contracts.

So, early Thanksgiving week, Meany and his colleagues began contacting members of the AFL— CIO high command's new farmworkers' advisory committee of national union presidents and officers. They're gearing for action in the California fields against the Teamsters and growers.

Chevez has now pledged to heat up the boycott of grapes and non- United Farm Workers label lettuce. This means hitting the sidewalks in front of supermarkets and the roads leading in and out of the California fields.

Further, Chavez has said flatly his people will strike lettuce growers who haven't signed with his UFW this winter, and hit the grape growers next spring. This will lead to open battles bloodier than this past summer's clashes and mass arrests.

Chavez's boys can get mighty rough, but they're no match for the Teamsters. So Meany will have to throw in some "troops." But that will make for just old- fashioned muscle on both sides.

What's significant is the threat to the harvesting of other produce as well as lettuce and grapes. And then the Teamsters' efforts to pick up and deliver what they can to the canneries— and later to the wholesale and retail outlets. If the AFL- CIO unions help Chavez on the supermarket front, the Teamsters can retaliate on a thousand other fronts-- the waterfront, construction sites manned by AFL- CIO members, and steel mills for example. The Teamsters could hog- tie many a rail depot and clog up many a port.

The sluice gates are open. Blood, money and oratory will deluge through them. Just watch.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS
Prosecutors Weigh Charging Nixon With 'Obstruction of Justice'

WASHINGTON-- The Watergate prosecutors believe their best case against President Nixon personally would be for "obstruction of justice." They have evidence that he tried to cover up the burglarizing of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. No decision has been made, however, to bring charges against him.

The President repeatedly has tried to block inquiries into the White House plumbers' operation in the name of national security. Presidential aides have told the prosecutors, in deep confidence, that an investigation of the plumbers might reveal that the Central Intelligence Agency eavesdrops on Kremlin leaders.

This is no secret, however, to our readers. We reported as far back as September 16, 1971, that "the CIA has been able to listen to the kingpins of the Kremlin Banter, bicker and backbite among themselves."

We went ahead with the story because the secret transcripts of the Kremlin conversations showed that the Soviet leaders were quite aware the CIA was listening to them. Anything the Kremlin leaders knew, we reasoned, was safe for the American people to be told.

MAIN EXCUSE

The Kremlin eavesdropping, however, has been the principal excuse that the White House has offered for hushing up the Ellsberg break-in. The burglary was committed by the plumbers, presidential aides told the prosecutors, not to seek a psychological profile of Ellsberg as the public has been told, but to learn the names of Ellsberg's suspected Soviet contacts.

The White House feared Ellsberg had information about the CIA's listening devices in the Kremlin and might tip off his alleged Soviet contacts, claimed the President's people. They had reason to believe Ellsberg had named his Soviet contacts, they said, during his sessions with his psychiatrist.

When Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen discussed the Ellsberg break- in with the President, according to Petersen's account of the conversation, Nixon warned him: "That is a national security matter. You stay out of that. Your mandate is to investigate Watergate."

The new special prosecutor, Leon Jaworski, has told senators he doesn't agree with this and will go ahead with an investigation of the plumbers' activities.

MYSTERIOUS MISSIONS

These include two mysterious missions known only as "Project Odessa" and "Project N- 1." White House aides won't even discuss these missions with the prosecutors, although they have promised to let Jaworski see documents and listen to tapes relating to the national security problems.

Some prosecutors suspect that the President has gone to extreme lengths to cover up the plumbers' activities because of his own personal involvement. He not only has admitted that he "approved the creation" of the parapolice plumbers unit but that he "directed" Petersen not to investigate the plumbers' activities.

In the opinion of the prosecutors, this could be construed as obstruction of justice. For subsequent investigations, which were conducted despite the President's wishes, have resulted in criminal indictments.

The prosecutors are also seeking to determine whether the President ordered the former head of the plumbers, Egil Krogh, to obstruct the investigation. Krogh's attorney, Stephen Shulman, has told the court that his client was ordered to lie, if necessary, to conceal the plumbers' operations.

ASKED HOOVER'S HELP

The White House has acknowledged that Nixon asked the late FBI chief, J. Edgar Hoover, to direct the illegal acitivites that were later entrusted to the plumbers. Yet the President has insisted that he "at no time authorized the use of illegal means by the special investigations unit."

The President has denied specifically that he had any advance knowledge of the burglary of Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Not until last March 17, he said, did he learn about the break-in.

The moment former Watergate prosecutor Earl Silbert learned about the break- in, he immediately informed the court. But the President concealed this crime for more than a month, by his own admission, until then Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst persuaded him on April 25 to disclose it to the court.

RESISTED PROBE

From the beginning, the President has resisted any probe of the plumbers. It was this phase of Archibald Cox's investigation, according to our White House sources, that raised the President's hackles. Now Jaworski is continuing where Cox left off.

The President is upset over Jaworski's attitude but doesn't want to appear to be obstructing another special prosecutor, say our sources.

Jaworski, meanwhile, not only has kept Cox's aggressive young prosecutors but has directed them to go ahead with all their investigations.

To the dismay of the White House, it is beginning to look as if President Nixon may have another Archiblad Cox on his hands.

Secretary tells why part of Nixon tapes erased

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica is holding the subpoenaed White House tapes under guard, but he has given no indication whether he accepts an explanation for why 18 minutes of one of them is blank.

Rose Mary Woods, President Nixon's personal secretary, testified Monday that she thinks she accidentally pushed the wrong button on a recorder while she was listening to the tape of a June 20, 1972, meeting between the President and H. R. Haldeman.

Assistant special prosecutor Jill Volner told the court that all discussion of the Watergate break-in, which had occurred three days before, apparently took place during the 18-minute period, obliterated on the tape by a steady hum.

Miss Woods testified at a hearing called by Sirica to determine what had happened to the tapes of the meeting between the President and Haldeman, then White House chief of staff.

She said she had spent long hours at Camp David, the President's Maryland mountain retreat, on the weekend of Sept. 29 and 30, transcribing subpoenaed tapes.

"I did work hard over that whole long weekend ... I was exhausted," she said.

On Monday, Oct. 1, she was back in her office in the White House, where she had several hours more work to do on the tapes plus other matters that had piled up over the weekend.

She said she was working on the June 20 tape when her telephone rang. She said she had to reach way behind her to answer it and when she did she "pushed the record button, obviously," rather than the stop button, which was right next to it on the machine.

In addition, Miss Woods said she would have had to have kept her foot on the pedal which enabled her to move the tape backward or forward while she transcribed it.

"After I turned from the telephone — being someone who has tried to do a good job — I almost panicked," she said when she realized that the record button was depressed.

She checked the tape and found that after a mention by Haldeman of Ely, Nev., where Mrs. Nixon was born, conversation was obliterated by what she called a shrill noise.

Within five minutes Miss Woods went to the President.

"I told the President I was afraid I had caused a gap and he said it was no problem because it was not a subpoenaed tape," she testified.

One of the nine tapes subpoenaed on July 23, by then-special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox, was of a meeting between 10:30 a.m. and noon on June 20, involving the President, Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, the domestic affairs adviser.

But in an analysis accompanying the tapes delivered to Sirica Monday, the White House said there was no such meeting. The White House said the President met with Ehrlichman and then with Haldeman, not with both together.

In other Watergate-related developments:

—The Senate Watergate committee arranged to vote on whether to suspend its public hearings indefinitely. Chief counsel Samuel Dash said investigators needed more time to explore new leads, but a source close to the panel's Republican minority said Dash's staff had run out of hard evidence.

—President Nixon reportedly promised six senators Monday night that he would open some of his personal income-tax returns to public scrutiny this week. Sen. J. Bennett Johnston Jr., D-La., said Nixon expressed the hope the disclosure would not set a precedent.

3 persons injured in SeMo accidents

Three persons were injured in three area traffic accidents on Southeast Missouri roads and highways Monday, the highway patrol said today.

Willie Bon Smith, 53, of Catron received serious injuries at 7:20 p.m. Monday on a gravel road one mile south of Catron when he fell out of the right rear door of a southbound car driven by Edward Lay, 17, of Catron.

Smith was taken to Dexter Hospital.

A one- car accident at 2 p.m. on Highway 51, four miles south of Perryville, resulted in one injury.

George Fallin, 52, of Sedgewickville suffered minor injuries when he drove his car into a ditch to avoid a collision with another vehicle.

Fallin was taken to Perry County Memorial Hospital in Perryville.

Austin Curtis, 73, of Bragg City was slightly injured at 10:05 p.m. one mile north of Bragg City on Route A when the pickup truck in which he was riding was struck by a car driven by Larry Michael Storcher, 19, of Campbell.

Storcher, traveling at an excessive rate of speed, attempted to slow for a pickup truck driven by Robert Franklin Caudle and struck it in the left front.

Curtis was treated and released from Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

REALTOR

OVER OR UNDER-SPENDING

Some people spend more than they can afford when buying a house. Equally painful is the mistake of buying the cheapest possible house and then suffering through its shortcomings.

I have no intention of stating how much anyone can afford for a house. This is a very personal decision. There are guidelines of monthly averages that lending institutions use for housing expenses. But - like the "height/weight" charts printed on scales - these are only averages.

Don't hold back if you feel you can exceed the guidelines. When you are willing and sufficiently disciplined to economize on other expenses, you can get a better house than the average calls for. A good house may seem costly, but the rewards are well worth it. Investing in a house that's a little more expensive gives you an excellent inflation hedge while your whole family enjoys a better place to live. And often, the resale opportunity is brighter.

Ann Landers

Small percentage of doctors 'mess around'

Dear Ann Landers: Since you are such a big mouthpiece for the medical profession, how would you like to comment on the findings of a research team from U. C. L. A. Medical School? They did a survey of 460 physicians and learned that seven per cent of the doctors engaged in sexual intercourse with their patients. The physicians who filled out the questionnaires (anonymously, of course) were not only gynecologists, but internists, general practitioners and psychiatrists.

A separate study indicated that of the freshman medical students polled, about 25 per cent felt that sexual intercourse with a patient might be appropriate "under the right circumstances." I'll bet you won't be reading anything about THIS in any of the medical journals. How about it, Annabelle?--- I'm a Lawyer

Dear Lawyer: Don't bet the rent. You'd be homeless. The results of that survey appeared in the October issue of the American Medical News which enjoys a weekly circulation of 382,000.

Do I wish to comment? Yes, I do. Doctors are not saints. When you consider what goes on with males in every walk of life, be they TV repairmen, plumbers, firemen, policemen, truck drivers, traveling salesmen, actors, insurance adjustors, professors, corporate executives and yes, even lawyers, that seven per cent figure for kanoodlin' with patients isn't so startling. I seriously doubt that the figure is any lower in any of the aforementioned fields.

As for 25 per cent of the medical students stating they believe sexual intercourse with patients might be appropriate "under the right circumstances," that DOES surprise me. Not one of the doctors with whom I discussed the survey could envision under what circumstances it would be "right."

Dr. Michael De Bakey, famous heart surgeon and president of the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, said such behavior would be extremely damaging to the physician- patient relationship. Dr. Francis Braceland, distinguished psychiatrist of the Institute for Living in Hartford, suggested that the survey may well have shown vastly different results had it been taken in Vermont rather than California. To the comments of both gentlemen, I say, "Amen."

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter from "Not Dead Yet" complaining about her husband's loss of sexual ability due to medication for high blood pressure. You suggested that a doctor might recommend a change in medication.

My husband has the same problem, only he is taking medicine for epilepsy. Is there a chance that a change in medication might help him also? I mentioned the problem of my husband's impotence to his physician and he said, "You have to expect this sort of thing when a man is taking a drug to prevent epileptic seizures."

Can you shed a little light on this subject?--- Need Help Urgently

Dear N. H. U.: I wish people would bear in mind that 50 per cent of all the physicians now practicing medicine graduated in the bottom half of their class.

There is nothing wrong with getting a second opinion, or a third. Simply because your husband's doctor has taken a defeatist attitude does not mean you should accept his word as final. See another doctor. And don't ignore the possibility that counseling might be a great help--- to both you and your husband.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers's booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Dements to mark 60 years

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dement, 112 N. West St., will celebrate their 60th wedding aniversary Sunday with an open house at their home from 2 to 4 p.m. hosted by their son and daughter- in law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dement of Chaffee.

The Dements were married Dec. 1, 1913 at Lilbourn and lived at Morehouse from 1919 until 1963 before moving to Sikeston.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Mill returned Sunday afternoon from a three- week trip during which they visited with family and friends.

They attended the Billy Graham crusade in St. Louis with a daughter and her family, the Marshall Laughlins, and the Martin Tilley family of St. Louis.

The couple then flew to Denver, Colo., where they were met by another daughter, Mrs. Charles Oliver, and family and also visited a son, Dr. Walter Mill, and his family all of Denver.

The Mills later visited Albuquerque, N. M., and Brownsville, Tex., with the Olivers before returning to Sikeston.

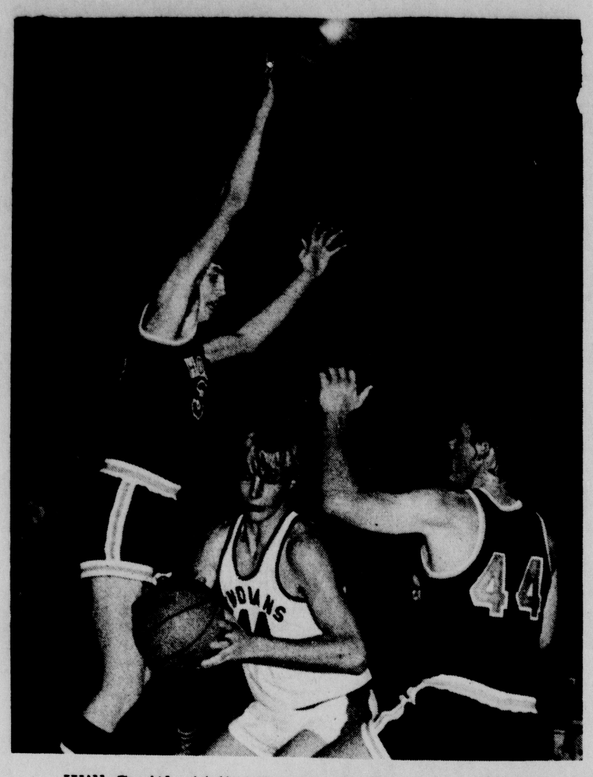
Puxico, Gideon win openers



Will Smith (44) tries to elude a pair of Holcomb Hornet defenders during Monday night's opening round game in the Bernie Invitational basketball tournament. The Indians rallied for 45 points in the second half to pull away from HHS and into the event semifinals.

BERNIE — Spewing, sputtering and then unleashing a devastating attack, the top seeded Puxico Indians got past their first big hurdle in quest for the championship of the Bernie Invitational tournament title Monday night, disposing of the Holcomb Hornets 66-46.

Gideon bounded into the semifinals along side of the pre-tourney favorites by sweeping past the hosting Mules, 73-63.

Puxico, haunted by tournament jitters throughout the past seasons, had that familiar trouble through the first half and held a slim 19-16 lead before shaking that nemis and racking up 47 points the final two periods.

Jim Davis, one of the three returning Indian starters from last season, provided the spark in the second half with his hustle and ball hawking. The 5-foot- 10 PHS forward showed some fancy ball handling and passing and ended the game with 15 points, eight assist and seven rebounds.

Red Smith was the Indians leading scorer with 16 points. Mike Reed rounded out the PHS double figure scoring with 12 markers.

Jay Rollins dropped in 14 points for the Hornets before leaving the game with a sprained ankle.

Gideon took a 19-16 lead in the first quarter over coach Jack McGowan's Mules and added eight points to that lead with an 18-10 advantage in the second period and then fought off the hard charging Mules through the second half for the victory.

Coach Richard Pyland's Bulldogs used a quick, hustling full court zone press to force the Mules into numerous mistakes.

Gideon took the victory at the free throw line as Bernie out-shot the Mules 28-27.

Gary Pyland worked the Mules over from under the basket with his deceptive moves and rebound baskets, ending the night as high man with 29 points. Virgil Sparks added 20 to the Dogs total. Ruben Whitle and SteveWard teamed for 43 points, scoring 24 and 19 points respectively in leading the Mules offense.

Tournament action resumes tonight with two first round games. Bloomfield and Parma open the action at 7 p.m. and Richland and Risco collide at 8:30.

East Prairie surprises SCCHS

ORAN — In the OHS Invitational tournament here Monday night the Delta Bobcats stormed over the Bell City Cubs 78-36, Scott Central was upset by East Prairie 67-62, and Kelly breezed past the host Eagles 76-58.

In the first game of the night the Delta Bobcats had an easy time disposing of the Bell City Cubs as coach Dan Kight's Bobcats rushed to a 17-9 first period lead. The Cubs were unable to find the range in the second period and put up ittle resistance as Delta raced to a 21-4 advantage and led at the half 31-13. With Marshall Storder, Bill Martin, and Carson Kelly leading the way the Bobcats couldn't be contained in the second half as Delta outscored the Cubs 40-23.

Stroder ended the game with 17 points, Martin scored 14, and Kelly hit 11. Mark Brown hit 16 for the Cubs.

The East Prairie Eagles of coach Steve Doren upset the third seeded Scott Central Braves as both teams turned the ball over enough times to make any coach have an upset stomach.

SCHS led 14-13 after the first period but fumbled the ball away too many times in the second period and fell behidn 20-12, to trail 33-26 at the half.

Leroy Bradley did most of the damage in the half and the Eagles held Kenny Bright to 10 points in the game. Bradley ended the game with 23 points.

The Braves opened the third period with numerous fumbles and the Eagles hit the hoop for a 16-9 advantage in the quarter. Coach Cookson's wild bunch began to hit the hoop in the last period and made a valliant effort to pull the game out of the fire but time ran out. Danny Peet was the leading scorer for the Braves with 12 points.

In the last game of the night the number two seeded Kelly Hawks jumped out in front of the injury riddled Oran Eagles 20-14 at the end of the first quarter and breezed the rest of the way for the win.

Mike Brasher led the Hawks in scoring with 22 points. 6-4 Russ Mothershead pumped in 18. Matt LeGrand led the Oran Eagles with 22 points.

PINCHER CREEK, Alta. (AP) — Goaltender Alan Hayden made 97 saves Saturday night in a heroic attempt to keep Pincher Creek in a Ranchland Senior Hockey League game against Vulcan.

It wasn't enough. Vulcan won 27-1.

FOSTORIA, Ohio (AP) — Charles Wolph II, an 8-year-old third-grade pupil, predicts college football outcomes better than adult experts for the Fostoria Review-Times.

Young Wolph picked 130 of 165 games this season correctly, finishing seven games in front of his nearest competitor.

He's the son of Chuck Wolph, the newspaper's sports editor who finished 15 games behind. "The less said about it the better," growled the older Wolph.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — David Jaynes of Kansas, perhaps the best pro prospect among this season's crop of college quarterbacks, was added to the West roster Monday for the 49th Shrine East-West Football Game.

Mike Boryla of Stanford, another of the nation's leading passers, has been invited to play in the all-star game here Dec. 29 and may be added to the squad later.

Jaynes was one of nine players placed on the West roster Monday. The others were Montana State defensive tackle Bill Kollar, Brigham Young defensive back David Atkinson, Oklahoma State defensive end Glen Robinson, Louisiana Tech receiver Roger Carr, Washington State offensive tackle Tom Wickert, Pacific defensive lineman Larry Bailey, Oklahoma State linebacker Cleveland Vann and Kansas linebacker Don Good.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tickets for the 12-round Joe FrazierMuhammad Ali match, scheduled for Jan. 28 at Madison Square Garden, go on sale Tuesday at the Felt Forum box office and at Ticketron outlets, the Garden said Monday.

Tickets for the bout will be priced at $100, $75, $50, $40, $30 and $20. Each sale is limited to four tickets per person with no mail orders accepted.

MONTREAL (AP) — Frank Mahovlich of the Montreal Canadiens will be presented with the first set of Olympic coins before Wednesday night's hockey game here against the Los Angeles Kings' the National Hockey League club announced Monday night.

The presentation will be made by Postmaster-General Andre Ouellet in recognition of Mahovlich's contribution to hockey in Canada.

BASEBALL

NEW YORK — Gary Matthews, outfielder for the San Francisco Giants, was named the National League's Rookie of the Year for 1973

TENNIS

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill., defeated Arthur Ashe of Miami 6-4, 7-6, 6-3 and won the men's singles title in the South African Open Tennis Tournament.

BUENO AIRES — No. 2 seed Julie Heldman, a London-based New Yorker, defeated Argentina's Beatrice Araujo 6-2, 60 to reach the finals of the $40,000 Argentine Open Tournament.

Alabama No. 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flattery is great, says Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant. But there is no substitute for results.

The Crimson Tide of Alabama replaced Ohio State as the nation's top-ranked college football team in this week's Associated Press poll.

"I'm highly flattered, of course, and I certainly hope we can prove deserving," Bryant said. "Right now, though, it doesn't mean a thing unless we can beat Auburn. The squad has worked hard to attain the No. 1 ranking and it's up to us to show we deserve it."

One man who didn't agree with the poll's results was Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer, whose team finished second in the balloting.

Switzer thinks the Sooners — not Alabama, should be No. 1.

Ohio State's 10-10 tie with Ohio State realigned the poll results with Oklahoma, which had been third, moving up to No. 2, the Buckeyes dropping to third and Michigan maintaining fourth place.

Notre Dame and Penn State, like Alabama unbeaten and untied, remained fifth and sixth, respectively, and remained in contention for the national title, which will be decided following the bowl games on New Year's Day.

Alabama, which beat Louisiana State 21-7 last Thursday, received 36 first-place votes and 1,176 points from the nationwide panel of 63 AP member sports writers and sportscasters.

Oklahoma, which beat Nebraska 27-0 last Friday, garnered 20 first-place votes and 1,095 points. Ohio State collected two first-place ballots and 892 points while Michigan got one No. 1 vote and 876 points.

Notre Dame, a 48-15 Thanksgiving Day victor over Air Force, received two first-place votes and 832 votes while Penn State, which capped its regular 11-0 season with a 35-13 victory over Pitt, earned the remaining first-place vote and 726 points.

Southern Cal used a 23-13 victory over UCLA to climb from ninth to seventh place. LSU's loss to the Crimson Tide dropped the Tigers from seventh to eight while Texas jumped from 11th to ninth with a 42-13 shellacking of Texas A&M.

Arizona State, a 55-19 winner over Arizona, moved up from 13th to 11th. Texas Tech was 12th, followed by Nebraska, Houston, Miami of Ohio, North Carolina State, Kansas, Maryland, Tennessee and Missouri. Maryland made its first appearnce of the season in the Top Twenty after whipping Tulane 42-9.

The Top Twenty, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Clearwater AVH champ

IRONTON-- The Arcadia Valley Thanksgiving Tournament was won by Clearwater last week with a 63- 54 victory over Ellington. Host Arcadia Valley grabbed third place from Bismarck 69- 62.

In the third place game, Arcadia Valley jumped out to a 24- 18 first quarter lead and remained there for the rest of the evening. They took a 37- 36 lead to the locker room at half time after an 18- 13 second period advantage for the Bismarck Indians. In the third quarter, Arcadia Valley gained a five point edge, 19- 14, and finished the game with a 13- 12 fourth quarter advantage.

Louie Lucas was the high point man for the game with 36 points for the Indians. Teammates Grisham and Milburn added 12 points each to the effort. John Smith was the leading scorer for Arcadia Valley with 24 points. Carr was the only other double figure man for the Tigers with 16 points.

In the championship game, Clearwater and Ellington played to a 14- 14 tie in the first period but the Ellington Whippets jumped out to a 17- 11 second quarter advantage for a 31- 25 at half time. Clearwater doubled the Whippets' score in third period, 20- 10 and edged them in the final frame 18- 13 to take a 63- 54 victory.

Ellington's Danny Foster was the high point man with 23 points. Mann of the Whippets added 10 points to the effort. Carey Bark was the leading scorer for Clearwater with 22 points. Smith and Twidwell were in double figures for Clearwater with 14 and 12 points respectively.

Wild Bill's predictions

After last week's perfect night I will have to really bear down to match that score. Tournaments are on tap this week and there are usually upsets as some teams get the tournament jitters and make enough mistakes for their opponent to pull out the win.

Bernie invitational--- Risco vs Richland-- The Risco Tigers look very good on occasion as a young team will do and I think the Tigers will be good enough to down the Richland Rebels-- 70- 67.

Parma vs Bloomfield-- The Pirates have too much experience and ability to fail against the Wildcats.-- 81- 52.

Woodland invitational--- Advance should romp over the Bulldogs on their way to a show down with another bunch of Bulldogs, Notre Dame-- 87- 50.

Greenville vs Meadow Heights--- The Panthers will be hard pressed before disposing of the Greenville Bears--- 65- 62.

Farmington Invitational--- Flat River vs Leadwood--- Leadwood finsihed last season strong but lost some important players. I don't know much about Flat River but the Purple Pups should come out on top--- 67- 60.

Fredericktown vs Farmington-- Farmington is my pick but I know nothing about either team--- 50- 49.

Van Buren at Couch--- Couch hasn't had a team since Stan Whitson left--- The Bulldogs in an easy one-- 75- 50.

Dexter at Malden-- The Bearcats open their season with a win— 67- 64.

Charleston at Heath, Ky-- Missouri doesn't play the same kind of basketball as our neighbors and the Bluejays are rebuilding--- Heath 78- Charleston 60.

Corning, Ark. at Neelyville--- The Tigers have everything they need to win this one--- 76- 68.

Lilbourn at East Prairie--- The Panthers will start slow and finish fast- Leroy Bradley and Steve Husk will not be enough--- 80- 70.

Winona at Eminence--- Winona by five-- 60- 55.

Cooter at Gosnell--- After the Clarkton game the Wildcats have a long losing season to look forward to--- Arkansas to tough--- 85- 60.

Lesterville at Ellsinore--- Lesterville will take this one— 65- 50.

College High at Valle of Ste. Genevieve---- The Preps will win easy 65- 60.

Chaffee at Portageville--- The Bulldogs are my choice in this one--- 70- 60.

Bond asks for law lowering speed limit

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Christopher S. Bond asked legislators Monday to pass a law lowering the speed limit and to give him emergency powers to meet energy shortages.

Bond spoke to a joint meeting of the Missouri Energy Council—a voluntary citizens group—and a House Committee on Energy Monday at the University of Missouri.

Bond has called a special session of the legislature next Monday to deal with the energy problem, state reorganization and campaign financing.

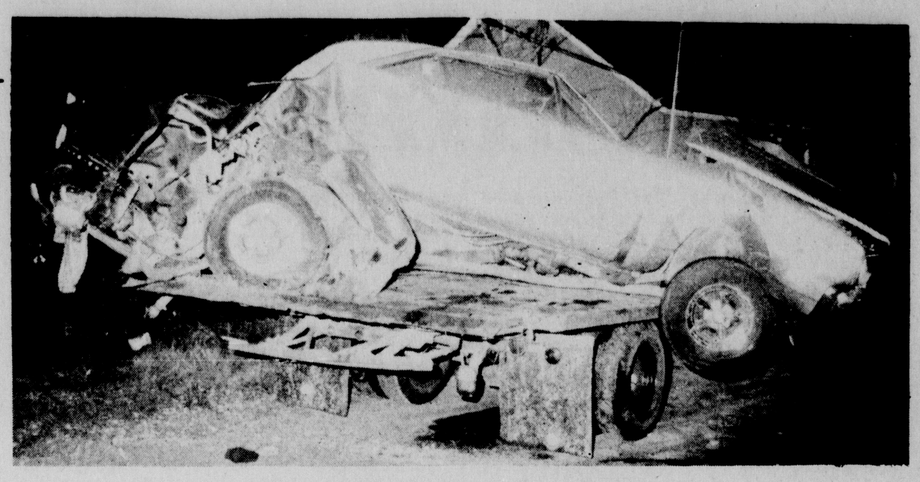
The governor has not specified a speed limit, but has said he is in favor of 60 miles per hour. The limit now is 70.

Bond said the flying time of state airplanes will be reduced by 20 per cent and "we will accelerate our efforts to provide better insulation in state buildings. Our ultimate objective is a reduction of 25 per cent in the consumption of energy by state government."

The governor said the President's energy adviser, John Love, and Interior Secretary Rogers Morton told Republican governors in Memphis, Tenn., last week that "we should be prepared for a 6.8 per cent reduction in the total energy available over the next several months, primarily in oil."

In the East, where residual oil is used for generating electricity, "we can expect brownouts or other serious impacts as early as next week," he said.

Missouri is not faced with a shortage of electricity, utility representatives have said, because there is plenty of coal. However, if the electricity is transferred to the East, the current level of coal mining in Missouri may not be able to keep up with the demand.



Driver receives minor injuries

James E. Hatchel, 20, of Bernie received minor injuries at 6:25 p.m. Sunday when his car, above, skidded off the road, breaking off a utility pole and telephone pole. The highway patrol said Hatchel was traveling at a high rate of speed, and the accident occurred when a farm tractor made a left turn in front of his car. Hatchel was taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

St. Louis using trash to power generators

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The use of trash as a fuel to run electric generators may help get rid of the solid wastes of the nation's cities but will never make much of a dent in the energy crisis, says the head of a trash-fuel project here.

"If we burned all of the trash produced by the two to three million residents of the sevencounty area surrounding St. Louis, it would still provide only 5 to 10 per cent of the total fuel needed to power Union Electric's power plants," said David Klumb, an engineer for the utility. "We would still need a lot of coal."

For the past year, Klumb has been working the bugs out of a system that shreds St. Louis trash and feeds it to a huge boiler at the utility's Meramec power plant. So far, the project has had mixed results.

"I have to say I'm cautiously optimistic that we can make our system work. We've had some problems in the past year, but I feel the basic system is sound and we can go ahead and think about expansion to handle the trash for the whole area," said Klumb.

The engineer is quick to point out, however, that the trashfuel project does more than provide a small percentage of the utility's fuel and reduce solid waste problems.

"What we are really talking about is a recovery process. Right now the city is removing the ferrous materials, the iron and steel, from the trash with magnets and selling the material to Granite City Steel, where it is being recycled.

"And now we are working on ways of removing copper, aluminum and other valuable metals from the trash before it is fed to the furnace," he said.

One of the early problems encountered by the project resulted from glass in the trash. Engineers at the plant soon learned the glass was wearing out carbon steel pipes from the inside as trash was blown through pneumatic tubes from a storage silo to the furnace. At each bend, the glass chipped away at the pipes until it wore holes through them.

The plant also found it is creating its own solid-waste disposal problem by burning the trash. Chunks of wood, metal and heavy plastic in the trash have a tendency to fall through the furnace without burning. This residue is sluiced from the ash pit and pumped to settling ponds, where it is piling up.

Ash from pulverized coal, the main fuel at the plant, also piles up, but it is sold by the ton to manufacturers of cement blocks and to street and highway departments that use it on snow-covered roads.

The problems of the glass and residue may be eliminated soon by a new piece of equipment added to the city's tras shredding facility.

"They are working to perfect their 'classifier,' an apparatus that will effectively separate the heavy materials from the predominantly paper trash," Klumb said. "That will help a lot."

The engineer said the environmental effects of burning the trash with low-sulfur coal have yet to be tested in the air and water around the plant.

"We are starting our own tests soon, and the Environmental Protection Agency will also run some tests," he said. "But I believe the emissions from our stacks will be clean."

The funds for the $3-million project, called the only one of its kind in the country, are being provided by the federal government, the utility and the city, with the EPA picking up about two-thirds of the tab.

The 1972 hurricane season was the quietest in 42 years according to the National Hurricane Center. The low hurricane activity was attributed to three unusual conditions—lower sea temperatures in the Atlantic, a stationary intertropical convergence zone and widely varied wind currents, The World Almanac notes.

Wills come before Probate

BENTON— Eight wills came up for probate before Judge John H. Sides in Probate Court for the week ending Nov. 23.

Charles H. Moose, deceased: demand filed.

Frank Nelson, agent for Norlen Inc., by Bankamericard, appeared before the court and presented his claim against the estate in the sum of $216.51 which was examined, approved and ordered filed.

W. V. McArthur, deceased: inventory filed and recorded.

Shirley McArthur appeared before the court and presented his inventory and appraisement in the estate which was examined, approved, ordered filed and recorded.

Elvis E. Eaton, deceased: proof of publication of notice of granting letters of administration filed.

Presented to the court was proof of publication of notice of granting letters of administration in the estate, which was published in The Daily Standard, a daily newspaper, showing dates of publication as Oct. 27 and Nov. 3, 10, and 17, which was examined and ordered filed.

James Owen Chambers, Wancy Lee Chambers and Mary Ann Chambers, minors: order to withdraw funds and to close accounts.

Clementine Chambers, guardian of the estate, asked for authority to withdraw funds and close accounts of minors, with funds to be used for the welfare, care, maintenance and education of children and for payment of attorney fees.

It was then ordered, adjudged and decreed that the guardian be authorized to withdraw funds and close accounts and use the money for said purposes.

Green Moore Greer, Jr., deceased: finding and order discharging administrator.

Green Berry Greer III., administrator, presented to the court his final settlement of the estate which was approved and the court ordered the administrator and his sureties be discharged and released from all duties.

Charles A. Stubbs, deceased: order.

Ben Marie Stubbs, executrix of the estate requested authority to take possession of the real property which was granted by the court which further ordered that she rent the property and that she, in due time, make an accounting of income from the real property of the estate.

Beatrice Lenore Dempster, deceased: appointment of appraiser.

The court ordered that Kenneth L. Dement be appointed appraiser to fix the clear market value of the estate of deceashed which is subject to payment of taxes under the provisions of the transfer and inheritance tax of the state of Missouri recorded in Inheritance Tax Record No. 4.

Richard Dale Crowley, minor: annual settlement.

Maxine Haney guardian of the estate, presented her accounts and vouchers for annual settlement in estate in which she charged herself $2,167.04, showing no disbursements, leaving a balance due in the estate of $2,167.04 which was examined, approved, ordered filed and recorded.

Nixon to make returns public

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has promised six senators to open some of his federal income tax returns to public review this week, says Sen. J. Bennett Johnston Jr.

The Louisiana Democrat said Nixon disclosed his intention at a meeting Monday night with four Democratic and two Republican senators, including Johnston.

A White House spokesman confirmed that Nixon mentioned the subject during the session, and said he will "have something to say about it in the coming days.

No president has ever made such a disclosure and Johnston said Nixon expressed the hope his move would not set precedents.

Johnston said the President indicated he would provide copies of his actual returns and not a summary. "He said these would vindicate his position," Johnston said.

In a news conference with The Associated Press Managing Editors Association on Nov. 17 the President acknowledged the truth of reports that he paid "nominal amounts" in federal taxes in 1970 and 1971 because he had claimed a $500,000 tax exemption on the donation of his vice presidential papers to the government.

Johnston said the President did not say which years would be covered by his disclosure or how or precisely when that disclosure would be made."

Johnston, and Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, said the discussion was friendly and dwelt mainly on such issues as the Middle East and the energy crisis, with a smaller amount of time devoted to the Watergate scandals.

"We talked about football for what I thought was an inordinately long period of time," Johnston said.

But he said he believed that the fact that the President was willing to discuss Watergate but instead was asked mainly about other things "was perhaps indicative of the fact he is beginning to come out of the woods on that particular problem."

Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., refused to comment on the session. Also attending but not immediately reached were Sens. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., and Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo.

What's the law?

The case of the bouncing patient

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Uneasy is the tooth that wears a crown and Leroy's worst fears were realized. He went to the dentist and was told that the tooth had to come out. Fraught with fear, he sat in the dental chair as the dentist gave him a dose of laughing gas.

When the dentist stepped out of the room for a moment, his tenseness disappeared and a broad smile crept up on his face. He began to giggle and laugh. Soon he was laughing so hard that he rocked right out of the dental chair, mirthfully rolled along a wall and out of an open window.

Falling two stories, Leroy first ended up in a hospital and then in court where he sued the dentist for his injuries.

"I can't be blamed for what happened," insisted the dentist in court. "I stepped out of the room for only a minute and Leroy stepped out of the window. When I saw him last, he was sleeping like a baby."

"And I bounced like one too," retorted Leroy, "when I hit the pavement. Having given me the laughing gas, he should have either stayed in the room or kept his window closed."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit the bouncing patient to colect for his injuries?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that the reaction of a patient under laughing gas is unpredictable. Some patients will laugh, others will cry, many will fight, etc. Under the circumstances, concluded the judge, a dentist must guard against the unexpected effects of the gas upon a patient to whom he may administer it.

Senate to vote today on Ford nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is close to a vote on President Nixon's nomination of House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford as vice president.

A roll call vote was set for late afternoon, with only one senator having announced he would vote against confirmation of the veteran Michigan congressman.

Ford was nominated by President Nixon Oct. 12 to replace Spiro T. Agnew, who resigned after pleading no contest to a charge of income tax evasion.

The nomination was the first under the 25th Amendment adopted in 1967. It provides that if the office of vice president becomes vacant, a successor shall be nominated by the president subject to confirmation by majority vote of the Senate and the House.

The House is expected to vote on Ford's nomination late next week. Its Judiciary Committee completed six days of hearings Monday.

The only senator to announce he would vote against confirmation was William D. Hathaway, D-Maine, who said his stand should not be interpreted as any reflection on Ford's character or qualifications.

Hathaway told the Senate that with Nixon undergoing an impeachment investigation, consideration of any nominee for vice president is improper.

Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., of the Senate Rules Committee, which conducted hearings on the nomination, said it found no bar to Ford's confirmation after putting him "under the microscope of public scrutiny."

At a news conference Monday night in Hauppauge, N.Y., before a dinner speech, Ford said he was "very definitely ruling myself out as a presidential candidate ... in '76 and certainly for any time thereafter." He said that represented his present thinking and "I can't speculate beyond saying what my present intention is."

Teen program would fight birth defects

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Teen Action Program (TAP) will hold a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in First Federal Savings and Loan Building, 325 Broadway in Cape Girardeau for teen- agers interested in forming a Southeast Missouri chapter of the youth organization to fight against birth defects.

TAP's is a teen organization of the March off Dimes and was founded in Phoenix as a Teens against Polio group which was effective in promoting the Salk vaccine of the early 1950s. The odds of one out of every 14 babies born in the U.S. having some kind of birth defect prompted the current program's formation.

Malden Council gives RSVP office space

MALDEN — The City Council Monday night voted to allow Marjorie Lee, chairman of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, office space in the community building for the coming year.

The council also voted to erect a three by five foot sign to identify the building.

The council decided to give hams and turkeys as Christmas gifts to city employes.

A letter was read to the council from Dr. William L. Troxel, an opthalmologist from Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff, asking the city to pass legislation to control the use of BB guns. No action was taken.

Today in U.S. History

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 27th, the 331st day of 1973. There are 34 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, during World War II, French navy men at Toulon, France, scuttled ten French cruisers, 28 destroyers and 14 submarines to prevent them from falling into the hands of the Nazis.

On this date—

In the year 602, the Roman emperor Maurice and his five sons were beheaded at Chalcedon in Asia Minor.

In 1703, a coastal storm in England took an estimated 8,000 lives.

In 1919, Bulgaria signed a World War I peace treaty which yielded territory to Greece and Yugoslavia.

In 1940, during World War II, Germany annexed the French province of Lorraine.

Tires and tape player stolen

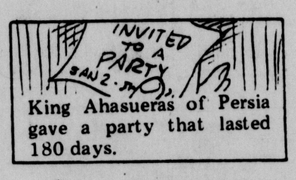
Two tires were reported stolen Monday from the parking lot at Kingsway Plaza Mall and a stereo tape player was taken from Radio Shack, according to police.

A tire was reported taken from the back of a truck belonging to Glenn Wilburn, 310 Hux St., between 5 and 10 p.m.

At the time of the theft, the truck was parked west of TG&Y Family Center where Mrs. Wilburn works.

Becky Karnes of Vanduser reported a tire was taken from the back of her truck while it was parked on the west side of the mall. The theft occurred sometime between 7 and 8 p.m.

A stereo tape player valued at $100 reportedly was taken sometime around 11:30 p.m. from Radio Shack on East Malone Avenue while an employe was in the back of the store.



King Ahasueras of Persia gave a party that lasted 180 days.

southern part of New Madrid County from Hayti would be too great.

Wallace said it was recognizable that the immediate area of the south boundary of the county (Portageville) might be reached in acceptable time, but this would not be the case for areas farther into the county such as Marston, Tallapoosa and Risco and Parma.

Wallace said approval of an ambulance for Southern New Madrid County was expected if it were based and operated from New Madrid, Marston or Portageville.

Police returned to the motel and told McIntosh they wanted to search his room. He told them they could. Police said they found the gun and a sack full of money and money orders taken from the store.

A 12- year - old girl, also found in the room, was turned over to her parents.

McIntosh is also wanted by federal authorities for parole violation, two counts of car theft and possession of firearms. He is wanted in Kentucky on two counts of armed robbery, escape from custody, grand larceny, and contributing to the delinquency of a minor and underage possession of alcohol. He is also wanted by Virginia police for seven counts of armed robbery.

In other cases in Magistrate Court today, Larry Ray Marcus of Matthews was granted a change of venue to Mississippi County to face charges of assault. A capias warrant was issued for Eddie Jarvis of Poplar Bluff for failing to appear in charges of theft.

Donna Ray, 321 Greer, bogus check, continued to Wednesday; Ronald Lee Hazel, of Lake Horn, Miss., non-support, granted a change of venue to Circuit Court.

Schools get microfilm

EAST PRAIRIE — The R-2 Board of Education in regular session Monday night approved the use of a microfilm service and leasing of a printer- reader machine from the 3-M and Microfilm Products Co. of St. Louis.

The final service, which will provide security and convenience and storage of students' permanent records, will cost an estimated $285 to film records dating back to 1956. A $25 fee will be charged to film approximately 100 records each following year. In additon to the film cartridges, stored at the local high school, the company will also store a copy of each tape.

The board approved leasing the printer- reader machine for a three- year period at $70 a month. At the end of the three- year contract, 90 per cent of the rental fee will go toward the purchase price.

The new program will be used in conjunction with the present computer scheduling program and the computer analysis and grade reporting programs, which will be incorporated next year.

Superintendent Gerald McElrath reported expenditures for the school lunch program were exceeding receipts due to the rise in food costs. The board voted to maintain the present cost for another two months.

McElrath also reported that attendance in the district was down by 75 students from last year.

The district will be represented at a conference for school administrators and board of education members in Columbia from Jan. 13 to Jan. 15 and on Nov. 30 the district will be represented at a hearing in Jefferson City on the changes in distribution of state funds to school districts.

To conserve fuel for heating, thermostats in classrooms will be set at 70 degrees and hallways at 65 degrees during the day. At night and on weekends, thermostats will be turned down to 60 degrees.

Bus drivers have been instructed to maintain a speed limit of 50 miles per hour and only necessary bus trips will be made to conserve gasoline.

Chaffee Council accepts attorney's resignation

CHAFFEE — A letter from John Bradsahw was read during the regular meeting of the Chaffee City Council Monday night stating that due to ill health he was resigning as city attorney. The council accepted his resignation and is looking for a replacement.

The council agreed to let auxiliary policemen help members of the police force on the shift from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.

It was agreed by the council to give $50 to the Law Enforcement Crime Laboratory in Cape Girardeau for their 1974 budget.

The council voted not to use lights on Christmas decorations because of the fuel shortage.

A committee was appointed to check the city hall for repair work needed due to storm damage.

The council announced that J. A. Chronister of Chaffee will serve a three year term on the park board.

It was recommended by the council that a sidewalk, instead of a street, be added between Third St. and Easy St. It was suggested that interested persons pay for the material to build the sidewalk and the city do the work.

evacuated and students sent home. No bomb has been found.

The first call on Nov. 13 was received by Mrs. Flora Anderson, 319 Cook St. who was told a bomb had been placed in the high school.

The second call was made Nov. 15 to the grade school. The third and fourth calls were made Nov. 16 and Nov. 19 to the high school.

Three boys were arrested Nov. 20 and allegedly confessed to making three of the bomb threat calls and were turned over to the juveniles officer.

Thermostat lowering may be forced soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration has drawn up plans that could require homeowners who use heating oil to turn their thermostats down six degrees from where they were last year.

Other users of oil heat, including commercial and government buildings, could be forced to lower temperatures ten degrees or make equivalent fuel savings.

The plans are contained in the administration's proposal for rationing of heating oil, to be published today in the Federal Register.

A draft of the proposed regulations was obtained by The Associated Press and verified by administration sources.

The regulations also would guarantee certain high-priority users anywhere from 90 per cent of last year's fuel oil supply to 100 per cent of their needs this year.

Barring unforeseen complications, the regulations will take effect Jan. 1.

Under the plan, dealers would be legally required to impose the reductions upon the heating oil delivered to their customers. Purchasers would not need coupons to receive their rations.

The dealers would be required to calculate and distribute the correct amounts according to the formula set by the regulations.

Oil dealers could be fined up to $5,000 for each violation of the regulations, which forbid them to discriminate in deliveries or contract terms among customers within each category.

The priority uses include fuel production and distribution; public transportation; farming; food processing and distribution, industry; cargo and mail hauling; municipal police, fire and sanitation services and medical establishments.

Unlighted decorations go up

Downtown Sikeston's Christmas decorations were all but lost in the fog this morning. The decorations were put up Monday on street light poles in the downtown area. Bill Pickett, treasurer of the Sikeston Metro Association, which sponsors the decorations, said the electric lights in the lantern fixtures will not be used this year in order to comply with measures to conserve energy nationwide.

Many stations already closing on Sundays

Most service station owners and managers in Sikeston seem to be willing to go along with President Richard Nixon's request that service stations close from 9 p.m. Saturday to midnight Sunday.

Nine of 18 service station owners and managers contacted said their stations are already closed on Sunday and therefore will not be affected by the request. Most of the nine reported that Sunday closing had not really hurt their business.

Although already closed on Sundays, Vernon Freeland, owner of Freeland Standard Service, 309 E. Malone Ave., said "If that is what it takes, I'd rather see that than rationing or a higher tax on gas."

Jerry Galemore, owner of Galemore Spanish 66 Service Station, 600 N. Main St., said he closed on Sunday because "it was either close on Sunday or run out of gas."

Bill Hailey, owner of Hailey's Mobil Service Station, 620 S. Kingshighway, who is also closed on Sunday, said it won't make a lot of difference for local stations but will make a difference to those located along interstate highways.

In reference to the 15 per cent cut in production Nixon says he will order, Hailey said that action would hurt him because he sells every drop he can get now.

Sign of the times

Many service stations in Sikeston are expected to start displaying signs like this one by this weekend. The station closings are being made in compliance with President Nixon's fuel - saving measures requested in a Sunday night address on the energy crisis. One station owner says a large percentage of his sales will be affected since he sells about 800 gallons of gas on a normal weekday and more than 1,200 gallons on a normal Sunday.

Although he has been closing on Sundays for six years, Lloyd Forbis, owner of Maple Oil Co., 1411 W. Malone Ave., believes Sunday closing of service stations is one of the ways to conserve fuel. He added that it will be a hardship for some people but thinks those problems can be worked out.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Friend, owners of Friend's Service Station, 881 W. Malone, have always closed on Sundays. "We just have to have one day a week to rest," Mrs. Friend said.

Bob Hampton, owner of East Shell Service Station, 1101 E. Malone, said, "I don't much like it, but I'm going along with him (Nixon)." He believes it will hurt his business for awhile until everyone gets used to it.

Denny Breedlove of Chapman's Gulf Service, 905 S. Main St., is going to close on Sunday. He reported that the station usually does a lot of business on Sunday.

"So far I love it," Bobby Harris, manager of A & B Oil Co., 1631 E. Malone, said in reference to the closing. He is anxious to have a day off and doesn't think it will make much difference in sales.

Robert Grimm, owner of Holiday 66 Service Station, Highway 61 South, plans to go along with the voluntary closing. "I don't think it will affect me too much. I need a rest anyway," he said.

"I don't think we're going to close on Sundays," Joe Leible, owner of Leible's Midway Service Station, Highway 62 East. "If people quit traveling, I'll close." Leible explained that he depends on interstate business, and closing on Sundays would hurt his business.

Mrs. John Ward, wife of the manager of Shell-Town Service Center, Highway 60, said that closing on Sunday would hurt them, but they were planning to go along with Nixon's request.

"I don't know if we will close until they absolutely make us," said Deano Aldridge, manager of South Side Oil Co., Highway 61 South. He thinks the request is reasonable and is a good idea.

Death of East Prairie youth ruled suicide

EAST PRAIRIE-- The death of 18- year- old Jerry Don Russell has been ruled suicide by hanging by Mississippi County Coroner Elgin McMikle. No inquest will be held.

McMikle said the body of the youth, who had been missing from his home since Nov. 13, was found about 11 a.m. Monday on a ditch bank about one mile north of East Prairie by Raymond Brown of East Prairie while hunting.

A rawhide leather belt was buckled around the youth's neck and was attached at one end to an imitation leather belt which had apparently been looped over a tree limb. The imitation belt had broken and the body was lying on the ground.

Use Yule lighting sparingly

While people in other parts of the country are being asked not to use Christmas lighting this year, Sikeston Light and Water Co.is making no such appeal.

Dick Inman, director of municipal utilities, said the company is not discouraging Christmas lighting, but neither is it encouraging it.

If people are going to use Christmas lighting, Inman suggested they use it inside and use outside lighting sparingly. He asked residents to use no more lights than they did last year.

Inman added that light and water crews are putting up Christmas decorations downtown, but will hold off a while on the lighting.

The reason Sikeston can continue to have Christmas lights this year, Inman said is because the city gets its power from coal generators and the Southwestern Power Administration, which gets its power from hydro-electric plants.

Neither coal nor water are in short supply.

Inman said that only if a national law banning Christmas lighting is passed will residents be asked to curtail their use of Christmas lights.

Robbery suspect arraigned

Franklin David McIntosh of Winchester, Ky., was arraigned in Magistrate Court today in connection with the armed robbery last Friday of the Quick Shop on South Main Street.

Bond was set at $10,000. McIntosh is already under federal bond of $10,000 for transporting a stolen car across state lines.

McIntosh allegedly walked into the Quick Shop about 6 p.m. Friday and ordered the sales clerks to empty the cash register containing more than $100. He was allegedly armed with a long barrel .38 caliber revolver.

The robber locked the clerks and a customer in the freezer compartment of the store and then fled.

The van truck McIntosh was driving was stopped a short time later by special officer Z. T. Jackson. Jackson brought McIntosh back to the store, but the clerks could not positively identify him. Police said he had changed clothes and the clerks were still upset.

McIntosh was allowed to return to his room at the Holiday Inn, but police were still suspicious of him. After the desk clerk at the motel said McIntosh fitted the description of the holdup man, Lt. Walter Wilson shined his flashlight into the van truck McIntosh was driving. He could see a brown leather jacket inside.

A 13- year - old boy who had been with McIntosh when Officer Jackson first stopped him, was picked up while walking along South Main Street. He told police that McIntosh had said he was going to rob the store.

Scott to request attorney general opinion on landfill controversy

BENTON— Landowners and residents of the Illmo, Scott City and Commerce areas appeared before the Scott County Court Monday to continue their fight against establishment of a Mississippi County landfill on 80 acres of Scott County land owned by Herb Pickett of rural Illmo.

The opposition group's chief objection has been that a watershed from the land would pollute Holden Creek, which runs through adjoining land which is used to water livestock.

"We feel that our property value will be financially hurt if Mississippi County is permitted to operate a landfill in that location, one owner remarked.

Others said the group has hired an attorney to check possible legal action to prevent Mississippi County from locating in Scott County, but added that more help is needed.

The landowners said they are afraid that if Mississippi County is permitted to operate a landfill in Scott County, other counties may want to do the same.

The group told the County Court it thinks Mississippi County should stay in its own county.

Mississippi County has reported difficulty in finding a suitable landfill site within its boundaries because the water table is too high.

Bill Winchester, presiding judge of the Mississippi County Court, has said efforts to reach a landfill agreement with Scott County have been unsuccessful and that his county must have an acceptable plan ready by the first of the year, so the county began looking at sites in north Scott County.

The Scott County judges told the group there was nothing they could do to stop Mississippi County from owning land in Scott County but promised to request Prosecuting Attorney Jim Moore to ask Atty. Gen. John Danforth for an opinion.

Cooperation is key to ambulance system in Scott-New Madrid

A bi- county ambulance system is presently being developed for Scott and New Madrid counties through the joint efforts of several groups and will be administered by Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

For this system, Scott County has purchased one ambulance, New Madrid County has ordered one ambulance, and the City of Sikeston, using $7,000 in funds donated by the Sikeston Jaycees, is purchasing two emergency vehicles.

The four ambulances will service the area of southern Scott County and northern New Madrid County. The two County Courts are currently negotiating for services for the remainder of each county through similar systems.

All ambulances are being purchased with state assistance through plans approved by the Bureau of Emergency Medical Services.

Instrumental in the development of the bi-county plan are the Scott County Court, New Madrid County Court, Missouri Delta Community Hospital, City of Sikeston, Sikeston Jaycees and the Bootheel Comprehensive Health Council.

The four- ambulance system is a direct result of recommendations of the comprehensive health plan developed by the Bootheel Comprehensive Health Council.

For over a year residents of the six- county Bootheel area, working on the emergency care task force, have met to develop the best solution possible to the current ambulance problem.

Staffing arrangements, as well as many of the intricate details of management and financing, are being worked on at the present time.

An education curriculum to certify the attendants through a national registry is currently being finalized through the joint efforts of the vocational department of Sikeston Public Schools and Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

The 81- hour Department of Transportation course for ambulance attendants will be used.

An ambulance operational plan for one ambulance to be operated by Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti to serve the southern portion of New Madrid County has been disapproved by the Bureau of Emergency Medical services, according to John K. Wallace, director. But the county was asked to submit another operational plan for such an ambulance.

The plan was disapproved because the response time for an ambulance coming to the

WATERGATE AND SECURITY

The Chairman of the House Committee on Internal Security — Richard H. Ichord (D-Mo.) — warns that certain persons and organizations are "trying to take advantage of Watergate to destroy America's security programs."

Ichord, in an interview with the American Security Council's WASHINGTON REPORT, said: "I think it is imperative that we recognize that in the emotions and confusions surrounding the recent revelation of illegal surveillance activities, burglaries, and illegal break-ins, there are some people and organizations in this country motivated by both good and bad intentions, who are trying to take advantage of the situation and destroy America's security programs."

Ichord said his nine-man committee will hold hearings to determine just how far the FBI can go in domestic intelligence and whether new measures are needed to reinforce government security and loyalty programs.

"What we are concerned with in these hearings," said Ichord, "is FBI domestic intelligence activities — on-going investigations as opposed to closed-in ones. On-going investigations are the domestic intelligence activities of the FBI. Closed-in investigations are those to gather evidence to prosecute a specific crime.

"There are efforts in this country to stop on-going investigations altogether. If they succeed, all of your security programs will go out the window, because the domestic intelligence activities of the FBI are the very foundations of those three security programs. Without the domestic intelligence furnished by the FBI no such programs can be operated."

Ichord said it is vital that domestic intelligence programs be carried out effectively and without resort to witch-hunting or Watergate type "plumbers" operations.

"I want to speak very frankly," said Ichord, "both to conservatives and to liberals. The surest way to guarantee the excesses of another McCarthy era in the future is to destroy these programs. For one of the principal causes of such excesses in the 50's was the almost total absence of any such effective programs.

"Our interest is to see that such activities are carried out not only vigorously, intelligently and fairly, but also with due regard for the consitutional rights of all American citizens. What we're concerned about here is a proper balance of the security interests of the nation against the rights of the individual.

As Mr. Thurman Taylor comments in the News Digest, published by the Associated Oregon Industries, Inc., "Gloom purveyors love to call the United States the 'sick' society. Because the U. S. fails to measure up to their utopian standards, they claim that revolutionary changes are necessary. Hardly ever do they mention some of the benefits of living in this nation. We have the highest living standard in the world. Our national income equals that of the next six highest nations combined. While half of the world subsists on $100 per capita income a year, the U. S. enjoys an average of $3,600. Even the highly developed West European nations have per capita incomes of only about $1,600. Russians, living in an alleged 'workers' paradise,' average $800 a year. A mere six percent of the world's population lives in the U. S. Yet it graduates as many from high school as all the nations in the world combined. We also have more college graduates than the total of all the other nations. Professional pessimists often cite the number of American poor, some 15 per cent of our population. But if 15 per cent are poor, 85 per cent are not poor. Most countries would be pleased if they had such low poverty figures."

More bureaucracy we don't need, but the Civil Service Commission reports, "... near- record numbers of college graduate applications for federal employment." For every vacancy, there are 11 to 14 qualified college candidates. Says a Washington news release, "... Uncle Sam seems to have its pick of the college trained work force." Although it is unfortunate that so many young people reject challenging careers in private business and industry, it should be kept in mind that those seeking the federal security blanket remain in minority.

Private business and professions are the real center of action and accomplishment where the great battle to advance technology, environmental quality and produce the jobs, goods and services that will raise the quality of human life will be won.

The future of our nation will never be in doubt as long as most of our young people know this and act accordingly.

INDEPENDENT PROBE VITAL

President Nixon's tactics of "fighting back" against the Watergate charges apparently are based on convincing the public that he is making full disclosure of all the facts. A first step is being taken this week in a series of conferences with Republican congressmen. Later, some Democratic congressmen will be called in to hear Nixon's story.

Also, the President told congressional leaders he planned to make public the White House tape recordings and other Watergate documents after they were submitted to the federal grand jury.

President Nixon is on the right track if he wants to clear himself with the public and restore his moral authority to lead the nation. But it will be difficult for him to accomplish this unless he goes farther and subjects himself to a thorough, impartial investigation.

Nixon has destroyed his own credibility with the public by his long and persistent resistance to givingup documents, givingup tapes, allowing members of his staff to testify and so on. There has been so much deceptive propaganda issued from the White House that nothing but the most thorough exposure now can remove the taint.

This requires, in our opinion, an independent prosecutor not subject to removal by the President.The appointment of Leon Jaworski is totally unsatisfactory.

Senator Charles H. Percy (Rep., Ill.), not noted for being a Nixon supporter, said he thought the President's meeting with the Republican congressmen was "the beginning of full and total disclosure." Percy said that at least nine hours would be spent by the President "being interrogated" by members of Congress.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR A prosecutor with a free hand to dig into the Watergate crimes, we believe he is mistaken. Perhaps at an early stage of the Watergate mess Nixon could have got away with the defensive maneuvers he is now making. Instead, in the summer of 1972 there were declarations that the White House staff and the administration had nothing to do with Watergate. The public was led to believe that the Watergate burglars were a rash group of patriots who thought they were on the trail of subversive activity.

With that background, Nixon can't get by now by merely telling the public he is making full disclosure. The public will not be satisfied with interrogation by Republican congressmen but will require an independent probe.

Senator George Aiken (Rep. Vt.) may have the best idea. He said last week, "It makes no sense to me to ask the President to prosecute himself. Yet any special prosecutor in the Justice Department will find himself in that ridiculous position. Aiken's answer is impeachment.

"It is the clear duty of the House, through whatever procedures it chooses, to frame a charge of impeachment and set itself a deadline for the task. If no agreement can be reached by that deadline, the leaders of the House should tell the American people that no agreed charge could be found. That is the way to begin to restore confidence."

We do not know whether impeachment is the only way to get all the facts. We are certain that interviews with congressmen and making public the documents that go to the grand jury are not enough. An indepenent prosecution, such as that being carried on by ARchibald Cox until stopped by President Nixon, is indispensable. That may or may not lead to impeachment.

President Nixon's request for $2.2 billion in emergency aid for Israel (and for $200 million for Cambodia) indicates that detente is not all it's cracked up to be. Moreover, the very fact that the President has dispatched a "limited number" of U. S. military personnel to Isreal (shades of Vietnam) in connection with the American arms lift suggests that the Administration realizes it is faced with a very serious situation.

What seems to be crystal clear, of course, is that Moscow has been the central cause of the Mideast conflict. Instead of pressing for a negotiated settlement, fair to all sides, the Soviets, through massively re-equipping Egypt and Syria and goading other Arab nations to join in the assault against Israel, have produced an international crisis that has blood flowing on both sides.

Placing the blame squarely on Moscow, Sen. Henry Jackson (.-Wash.) said: "Since the Six-Day War (in 1967), the Soviet Union has engaged in one of the largest military buildups in their history, supplying guns, tanks, aircraft and missiles to Egypt and Syria in huge quantities and under the cover of the cease-fire."

Soviet irresponsibility, says Jackson, did not stop with the outbreak of the war. Secretary Brezhnev, violating the letter as well as the spirit of agreements reached with the United States in Moscow last year, did his best "to urge other Arab states to join the attack against Israel. Then the Soviets undertook a massive airlift of weapons into Syria and Egypt, resupplying the Egyptian and Syrian armies with sophisticated military hardware."

In resupplying Egypt, Syria and Iraq, columnist Joseph Alsop pointed out that the Soviets delivered close to 6,000 new tanks, an almost limitless number of the "most advanced Soviet anti-aircraft missiles, the SAM -2 improved, the SAM-3, and the particularly troublesome SAM-6..."

In addition, the Soviets -- aside from lavish amounts of more ordinary military equipment -- supplied a series of anit-tank weapons. "The main ones were the RPG-7, already unhappily met with by our own forces against the North Vietnamese, and the two highly efficient wireguided tank-killers, the Sapper and the Sagger."

While most diplomatic observers have agreed that Israel, in any negotiated settlement, would have to relinquish much of the territory she took from the Arabs in the six-day war, the fact is that Moscow forged a policy toward the Arabs that has not created negotiations, but a very bloody war and a grave, international crisis. In such fashion does the Kremlin pursue detente, or whatever you want to call it.

NO PLACE TO CUT

Herculean efforts to trim government spending and curb inflation - breeding growth of bureaucracy carry the inevitable risk that certain essential government services will be caught by the scythe of cost cutting. Such was the case sometime ago when funds were omitted from the U. S. Maritime Administration's proposed budget providing for the continued operation of radar training schools.

These schools are necessary since Coast Guard regulations require that the licenses of merchant vessel deck officers include radar endorsements. Moreover, an official of the American institute of Merchant Shipping has pointed out that the Ports and Waterways Safety Act of 1972 requires that "positive steps" be taken by the federal government to prevent pollution of water resources through improved navigation and vessel construction requirements. The official said that because of this legislative mandate to further the goal of pollution abatement, the radar training schools should not be closed, as radar has become "an increasingly important part of a merchant marine officer's training ..." Radar training is an example of a government service about which the public hears little, and yet it directly concerns the health and well-being of the nation. What could be more vital to the protection of U. S. coast-lines than the highest degree of electronic competence in guiding oil tankers and merchant vessels safely across the seas and into the sanctuary of our seaports?

The oil industry and U. S. shipping lines have relentlessly pursued every possible technological breakthrough in the construction of new vessels. The navigational aids that guide those vessels constitute one of the most necessary of government services, and there must be men qualified to utilize those aids. That is the purpose of government radar training schools. Such schools should most assuredly not be lumped in with the cost- cutting battle against the growth of a top-heavy welfare bureaucracy. These are horses of an entirely different color, and the difference should be apparent to everyone.

"CONSUMER PROTECTION" AGENCY WOULD HURT ALL

Testimony before the House Government Operations Committee on a bill to create a Consumer Protection Agency, most often in accordance with the recommendations of self-styled "consumer advocate" Ralph Nader, shows that the tide may be turning against Nader's so- called "crusade." Even past supporters are now changing their views. Two of the principal witnesses against the bill were a CBS- TV news commentator, Jeffrey St. John, and a professor at Yale Law School, Ralph K. Winter. The news media and the academic world have tended to support Nader's campaigns unquestioningly.

In his testimony, St. John admitted that "the premises of consumerism in general and the attack on advertising in particular have received few critical challenges, largely the consequences of a bias in the broadcast and printed press which, until recently, assumed Ralph Nader beyond error."

Professor Winter's testimony focused on the harm the proposed agency would do to the very people it was supposed to help: consumers, particularly the poor.

Professor Winter testified: "I fear the Consumer Protection Agency may injure the low- income consumer by increasing the price of a large number of products. To be sure, law can compel the production of 'better' products, but only by increasing their cost. It can also compel, at a cost to all consumers, the dissemination of detailed production information which is of interest and value only to the highly educated. These measures must decrease output and, in particular, the production of cheaper products." Both witnesses emphatically urged the committee to reject the Consumer Protection Agency bill. Other wise citizens should do likewise. HLH

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Bloody Labor Strife:

Meany's Drive to Destroy Nixon, Champion Chavez Heaves AFL- CIO Into National War With Teamsters

WASHINGTON-- Labor's giants are lining up against each other this holiday season, and it appears there'll be a civil war of the clangorous, bloody type about which old- timers in this "movement" reminisce.

It will sweep peace from the good earth of California and might spread chaos onto the concrete walks of big cities and the open field construction sites of the land.

Boycotts and counterboycotts appear inevitable as broad- shouldered labor chief George Meany champions Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers and charges Dick Nixon daily with domestic treachery.

There's no energy death on this front as Frank (Fitz) Fitzsimmons and his powerful 2.2 million- member Teamsters Brotherhood counterthrust, denounce Meany and rally to the President. Inherent in all this is the fact of life inside labor that anything Meany can boycott, Fitz's forces can boycott better.

Fitzsimmons, speaking for his Teamsters Brotherhood, said the other day that "some men in organized labor suggest impeachment of the President. This certainly isn't the cause for which unions were founded. We, whether it is Meany, Leonard Woodcock (president of the auto union--VR) or I, don't have the right to commit our national labor unions to take up such a cause. There are due processes. We do have the right to call our people to political action but, I repeat, unions have no right to demand the ouster of a President of the United States. The Congress has the responsibility."

Fitz endorsed the confirmation of Vice President-designate Gerry Ford. The Teamsters chief opined that this nation faces grim leadership if some tragic quirk delays the confirmation and Speaker Carl Albert becomes President. Bluntly, Fitzsimmons referred to Albert's taking an extra drink or two-- but in far more graphic language than I care to use here.

As for Meany's triphammer blows at President Nixon, the Teamsters president added, "I believe in this guy and I believe, and the Teamsters do too, that he'll come out all right. I think he's the greatest President and I phoned and assured him of our support. He's done more for this country in achieving peace than any other President and he alone can be accredited with quieting the war in Israel. So we endorsed him for reelection and we endorse him now regardless of what Meany says or does."

Well, that'a a war of words and position papers. More volatile now is the war on the farm front. The Teamsters, says Fitz, just are not going to give up those field workers contracts "no matter what Meany does."

Fitzsimmons said the Teamsters can't unilaterally walk away from those California growers contracts. They're quite a bundle and cover 30,000 to 40,000 produce "ranch" hands. Further, a growers spokesman has threatened to "sue him to death" if the Teamsters break the contracts.

So, early Thanksgiving week, Meany and his colleagues began contacting members of the AFL— CIO high command's new farmworkers' advisory committee of national union presidents and officers. They're gearing for action in the California fields against the Teamsters and growers.

Chevez has now pledged to heat up the boycott of grapes and non- United Farm Workers label lettuce. This means hitting the sidewalks in front of supermarkets and the roads leading in and out of the California fields.

Further, Chavez has said flatly his people will strike lettuce growers who haven't signed with his UFW this winter, and hit the grape growers next spring. This will lead to open battles bloodier than this past summer's clashes and mass arrests.

Chavez's boys can get mighty rough, but they're no match for the Teamsters. So Meany will have to throw in some "troops." But that will make for just old- fashioned muscle on both sides.

What's significant is the threat to the harvesting of other produce as well as lettuce and grapes. And then the Teamsters' efforts to pick up and deliver what they can to the canneries- and later to the wholesale and retail outlets. If the AFL- CIO unions help Chavez on the supermarket front, the Teamsters can retaliate on a thousand other fronts-- the waterfront, construction sites manned by AFL- CIO members, and steel mills for example. The Teamsters could hog- tie many a rail depot and clog up many a port.

The sluice gates are open. Blood, money and oratory will deluge through them. Just watch.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS

Prosecutors Weigh Charging Nixon With 'Obstruction of Justice'

WASHINGTON-- The Watergate prosecutors believe their best case against President Nixon personally would be for "obstruction of justice." They have evidence that he tried to cover up the burglarizing of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. No decision has been made, however, to bring charges against him.

The President repeatedly has tried to block inquiries into the White House plumbers' operation in the name of national security. Presidential aides have told the prosecutors, in deep confidence, that an investigation of the plumbers might reveal that the Central Intelligence Agency eavesdrops on Kremlin leaders.

This is no secret, however, to our readers. We reported as far back as September 16, 1971, that "the CIA has been able to listen to the kingpins of the Kremlin Banter, bicker and backbite among themselves."

We went ahead with the story because the secret transcripts of the Kremlin conversations showed that the Soviet leaders were quite aware the CIA was listening to them. Anything the Kremlin leaders knew, we reasoned, was safe for the American people to be told.

MAIN EXCUSE

The Kremlin eavesdropping, however, has been the principal excuse that the White House has offered for hushing up the Ellsberg break- in. The burglary was committed by the plumbers, presidential aides told the prosecutors, not to seek a psychological profile of Ellsberg as the public has been told, but to learn the names of Ellsberg's suspected Soviet contacts.

The White House feared Ellsberg had information about the CIA's listening devices in the Kremlin and might tip off his alleged Soviet contacts, claimed the President's people. They had reason to believe Ellsberg had named his Soviet contacts, they said, during his sessions with his psychiatrist.

When Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Petersen discussed the Ellsberg break- in with the President, according to Petersen's account of the conversation, Nixon warned him: "That is a national security matter. You stay out of that. Your mandate is to investigate Watergate."

The new special prosecutor, Leon Jaworski, has told senators he doesn't agree with this and will go ahead with an investigation of the plumbers' activities.

MYSTERIOUS MISSIONS

These include two mysterious missions known only as "Project Odessa" and "Project N- 1." White House aides won't even discuss these missions with the prosecutors, although they have promised to let Jaworski see documents and listen to tapes relating to the national security problems.

Some prosecutors suspect that the President has gone to extreme lengths to cover up the plumbers' activities because of his own personal involvement. He not only has admitted that he "approved the creation" of the parapolice plumbers unit but that he "directed" Petersen not to investigate the plumbers' activities.

In the opinion of the prosecutors, this could be construed as obstruction of justice. For subsequent investigations, which were conducted despite the President's wishes, have resulted in criminal indictments.

The prosecutors are also seeking to determine whether the President ordered the former head of the plumbers, Egil Krogh, to obstruct the investigation. Krogh's attorney, Stephen Shulman, has told the court that his client was ordered to lie, if necessary, to conceal the plumbers' operations.

ASKED HOOVER'S HELP

The White House has acknowledged that Nixon asked the late FBI chief, J. Edgar Hoover, to direct the illegal acitivites that were later entrusted to the plumbers. Yet the President has insisted that he "at no time authorized the use of illegal means by the special investigations unit."

The President has denied specifically that he had any advance knowledge of the burglary of Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Not until last March 17, he said, did he learn about the break- in.

The moment former Watergate prosecutor Earl Silbert learned about the break- in, he immediately informed the court. But the President concealed this crime for more than a month, by his own admission, until then Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst persuaded him on April 25 to disclose it to the court.

RESISTED PROBE

From the beginning, the President has resisted any probe of the plumbers. It was this phase of Archibald Cox's investigation, according to our White House sources, that raised the President's hackles. Now Jaworski is continuing where Cox left off.

The President is upset over Jaworski's attitude but doesn't want to appear to be obstructing another special prosecutor, say our sources.

Jaworski, meanwhile, not only has kept Cox's aggressive young prosecutors but has directed them to go ahead with all their investigations.

To the dismay of the White House, it is beginning to look as if President Nixon may have another Archiblad Cox on his hands.

Secretary tells why part of Nixon tapes erased

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica is holding the subpoenaed White House tapes under guard, but he has given no indication whether he accepts an explanation for why 18 minutes of one of them is blank.

Rose Mary Woods, President Nixon's personal secretary, testified Monday that she thinks she accidentally pushed the wrong button on a recorder while she was listening to the tape of a June 20, 1972, meeting between the President and H. R. Haldeman.

Assistant special prosecutor Jill Volner told the court that all discussion of the Watergate break-in, which had occurred three days before, apparently took place during the 18-minute period, obliterated on the tape by a steady hum.

Miss Woods testified at a hearing called by Sirica to determine what had happened to the tapes of the meeting between the President and Haldeman, then White House chief of staff.

She said she had spent long hours at Camp David, the President's Maryland mountain retreat, on the weekend of Sept. 29 and 30, transcribing subpoenaed tapes.

"I did work hard over that whole long weekend ... I was exhausted," she said.

On Monday, Oct. 1, she was back in her office in the White House, where she had several hours more work to do on the tapes plus other matters that had piled up over the weekend.

She said she was working on the June 20 tape when her telephone rang. She said she had to reach way behind her to answer it and when she did she "pushed the record button, obviously," rather than the stop button, which was right next to it on the machine.

In addition, Miss Woods said she would have had to have kept her foot on the pedal which enabled her to move the tape backward or forward while she transcribed it.

"After I turned from the telephone — being someone who has tried to do a good job — I almost panicked," she said when she realized that the record button was depressed.

She checked the tape and found that after a mention by Haldeman of Ely, Nev., where Mrs. Nixon was born, conversation was obliterated by what she called a shrill noise.

Within five minutes Miss Woods went to the President.

"I told the President I was afraid I had caused a gap and he said it was no problem because it was not a subpoenaed tape," she testified.

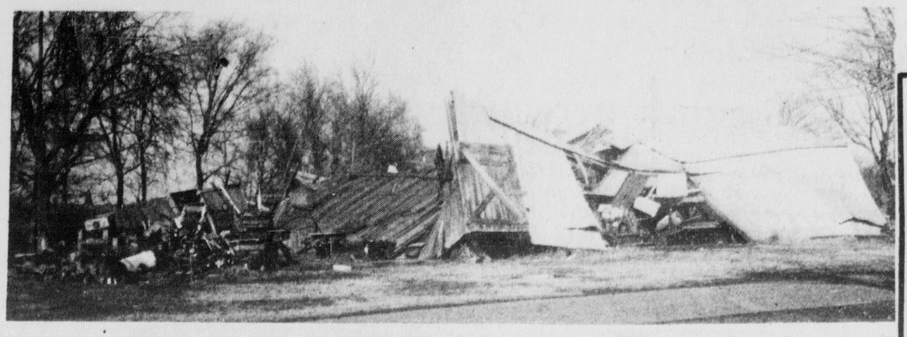
One of the nine tapes subpoenaed on July 23, by then-special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox, was of a meeting between 10:30 a.m. and noon on June 20, involving the President, Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, the domestic affairs adviser.

But in an analysis accompanying the tapes delivered to Sirica Monday, the White House said there was no such meeting. The White House said the President met with Ehrlichman and then with Haldeman, not with both together.

In other Watergate-related developments:

—The Senate Watergate committee arranged to vote on whether to suspend its public hearings indefinitely. Chief counsel Samuel Dash said investigators needed more time to explore new leads, but a source close to the panel's Republican minority said Dash's staff had run out of hard evidence.

—President Nixon reportedly promised six senators Monday night that he would open some of his personal income-tax returns to public scrutiny this week. Sen. J. Bennett Johnston Jr., D-La., said Nixon expressed the hope the disclosure would not set a precedent.



Tornado damage near Wyatt

Damage estimated at over $20,000 was caused by an apparent tornado which touched down about 11:30 p.m. Saturday at the W. R. Nally farm about five miles northeast of Wyatt. Farm equipment stored in the barn above was damaged. Another machine shed and barn on the farm were also heavily damaged.

Jones draws prison term

BLOOMFIELD— Thomas Everett Jones, 25, of Dexter was sentenced to two years in custody of the State Department of Corrections after pleading guilty in Circuit Court to a charge of felonious escape. Jones also drew two years on a charge of felonious assault, with the two sentences to run concurrently.

Sam Lack Jr. was sentenced to six months in the county jail after being found guilty of violating his parole by driving while license was revoked.

Charles Ray Isbell was fined $150 after pleading guilty to a reduced charge of careless and imprudent driving. The charge was reduced from driving while intoxicated.

Wesley Jones waived formal arraignment and entered a plea of guilty to a charge of burglary. The State Board of Probation and Parole to make a presentencing investigation and report back to the court.

Trial was set for Dec. 3 on charges of burglary, stealing and felonious assault against Harmon Fisk.

Teresa Elaine Robertson was granted a divorce from Dennis Rue Robertson and her maiden name of Warren was restored.

Phyliss Jean Mitchell was granted a divorce from Vernon Eugene Mitchell, the custody of one minor child and $35 per month for child support.

Norma Lavern Thompson was granted a divorce from Harvey Eugene Thompson, custody of one female minor child and $80 per month for support. Thompson was awarded custody of one male minor child.

Shirley Faye Lee was granted a divorce from William Frederick Lee and her maiden name of Evans was restored.

3 persons injured in SeMo accidents

Three persons were injured in three area traffic accidents on Southeast Missouri roads and highways Monday, the highway patrol said today.

Willie Bon Smith, 53, of Catron received serious injuries at 7:20 p.m. Monday on a gravel road one mile south of Catron when he fell out of the right rear door of a southbound car driven by Edward Lay, 17, of Catron.

Smith was taken to Dexter Hospital.

A one- car accident at 2 p.m. on Highway 51, four miles south of Perryville, resulted in one injury.

George Fallin, 52, of Sedgewickville suffered minor injuries when he drove his car into a ditch to avoid a collision with another vehicle.

Fallin was taken to Perry County Memorial Hospital in Perryville.

Austin Curtis, 73, of Bragg City was slightly injured at 10:05 p.m. one mile north of Bragg City on Route A when the pickup truck in which he was riding was struck by a car driven by Larry Michael Storcher, 19, of Campbell.

Storcher, traveling at an excessive rate of speed, attempted to slow for a pickup truck driven by Robert Franklin Caudle and struck it in the left front.

Drake pleads not guilty to drug charges

NEW MADRID– Jackie Lee Drake, 21, of Canalou pleaded not guilty Monday to a felony charge of possession of drug paraphernalia consisting of one metal pipe and two bamboo pipes and a misdemeanor charge of possession of less than 35 grams of marijuana during arraignment proceedings in Magistrate Court. No trial date was set.

Charges against Drake resulted from a drug raid Saturday night by the New Madrid County sheriff's department and the highway patrol at Drake's home south of Morehouse.

Drake is being held in the county jail under $500 bond.

2 divorce suits filed

BENTON— Two divorce suits were filed in the circuit clerk's office for the week ending Nov. 23.

Shirley Faye McTheeney filed suit against Ed William McTheeney. Mrs. McTheeney stated she and McTheeney were married in May 1965 and separated in 1966.

For cause of action, she stated McTheeney abandoned and deserted her without cause or reason.

Imojean B. Johnson filed for divorce from James P. Johnson Jr. Mrs. Johnson stated she and Johnson were married Mary 24, 1946, and separated May 5, 1973.

Mrs. Johnson said Johnson displayed no interest in the home and used alcoholic beverages to excess.

Two arrests

Police today announced the arrest of Harry L. Glass of Morehouse for driving while intoxicated and Gene Raymond Aufdenberg, 901 Moore, for speeding.

REALTOR

OVER OR UNDER-SPENDING

Some people spend more than they can afford when buying a house. Equally painful is the mistake of buying the cheapest possible house and then suffering through its shortcomings.

I have no intention of stating how much anyone can afford for a house. This is a very personal decision. There are guidelines of monthly averages that lending institutions use for housing expenses. But - like the "height/weight" charts printed on scales - these are only averages.

Don't hold back if you feel you can exceed the guidelines. When you are willing and sufficiently disciplined to economize on other expenses, you can get a better house than the average calls for. A good house may seem costly, but the rewards are well worth it. Investing in a house that's a little more expensive gives you an excellent inflation hedge while your whole family enjoys a better place to live. And often, the resale opportunity is brighter.

Ann Landers

Small percentage of doctors 'mess around'

Dear Ann Landers: Since you are such a big mouthpiece for the medical profession, how would you like to comment on the findings of a research team from U. C. L. A. Medical School? They did a survey of 460 physicians and learned that seven per cent of the doctors engaged in sexual intercourse with their patients. The physicians who filled out the questionnaires (anonymously, of course) were not only gynecologists, but internists, general practitioners and psychiatrists.

A separate study indicated that of the freshman medical students polled, about 25 per cent felt that sexual intercourse with a patient might be appropriate "under the right circumstances." I'll bet you won't be reading anything about THIS in any of the medical journals. How about it, Annabelle?--- I'm a Lawyer

Dear Lawyer: Don't bet the rent. You'd be homeless. The results of that survey appeared in the October issue of the American Medical News which enjoys a weekly circulation of 382,000.

Do I wish to comment? Yes, I do. Doctors are not saints. When you consider what goes on with males in every walk of life, be they TV repairmen, plumbers, firemen, policemen, truck drivers, traveling salesmen, actors, insurance adjustors, professors, corporate executives and yes, even lawyers, that seven per cent figure for kanoodlin' with patients isn't so startling. I seriously doubt that the figure is any lower in any of the aforementioned fields.

As for 25 per cent of the medical students stating they believe sexual intercourse with patients might be appropriate "under the right circumstances," that DOES surprise me. Not one of the doctors with whom I discussed the survey could envision under what circumstances it would be "right."

Dr. Michael De Bakey, famous heart surgeon and president of the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, said such behavior would be extremely damaging to the physician- patient relationship. Dr. Francis Braceland, distinguished psychiatrist of the Institute for Living in Hartford, suggested that the survey may well have shown vastly different results had it been taken in Vermont rather than California. To the comments of both gentlemen, I say, "Amen."

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter from "Not Dead Yet" complaining about her husband's loss of sexual ability due to medication for high blood pressure. You suggested that a doctor might recommend a change in medication.

My husband has the same problem, only he is taking medicine for epilepsy. Is there a chance that a change in medication might help him also? I mentioned the problem of my husband's impotence to his physician and he said, "You have to expect this sort of thing when a man is taking a drug to prevent epileptic seizures."

Can you shed a little light on this subject?--- Need Help Urgently

Dear N. H. U.: I wish people would bear in mind that 50 per cent of all the physicians now practicing medicine graduated in the bottom half of their class.

There is nothing wrong with getting a second opinion, or a third. Simply because your husband's doctor has taken a defeatist attitude does not mean you should accept his word as final. See another doctor. And don't ignore the possibility that counseling might be a great help--- to both you and your husband.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers's booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 35c in coin along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Dements to mark 60 years

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dement, 742 N. West St., will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house at their home from 2 to 4 p.m. hosted by their son and daughter- in law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dement of Chaffee.

The Dements were married Dec. 1, 1913 at Lilbourn and lived at Morehouse from 1919 until 1963 before moving to Sikeston.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Mill returned Sunday afternoon from a three- week trip during which they visited with family and friends.

They attended the Billy Graham crusade in St. Louis with a daughter and her family, the Marshall Laughlins, and the Martin Tilley family of St. Louis.

The couple then flew to Denver, Colo., where they were met by another daughter, Mrs. Charles Oliver, and family and also visited a son, Dr. Walter Mill, and his family all of Denver.

The Mills later visited Albuquerque, N. M., and Brownsville, Tex., with the Olivers before returning to Sikeston.

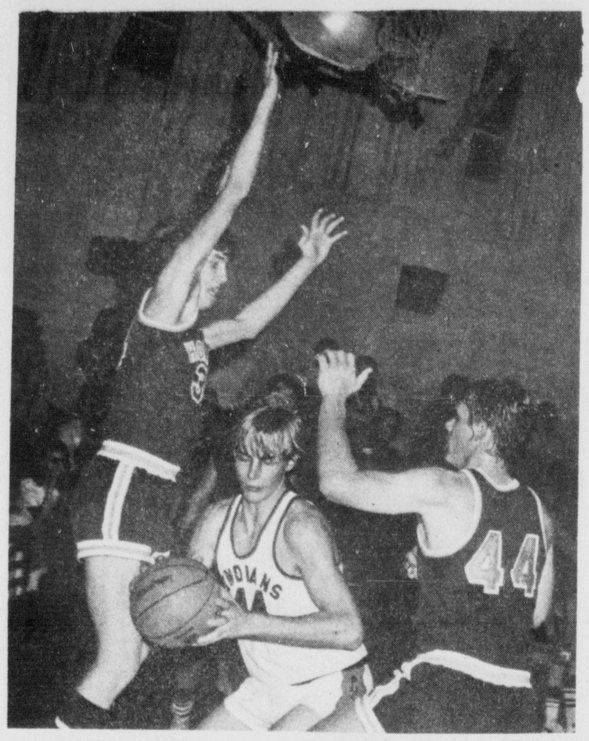
Puxico, Gideon win openers



Will Smith (44) tries to elude a pair of Holcomb Hornet defenders during Monday night's opening round game in the Bernie Invitational basketball tournament. The Indians rallied for 45 points in the second half to pull away from HHS and into the event semifinals.

BERNIE — Spewing, sputtering and then unleashing a devastating attack, the top seeded Puxico Indians got past their first big hurdle in quest for the championship of the Bernie Invitational tournament title Monday night, disposing of the Holcomb Hornets 66-46.

Gideon bounded into the semifinals along side of the pre-tourney favorites by sweeping past the hosting Mules, 73-63.

Puxico, haunted by tournament jitters throughout the past seasons, had that familiar trouble through the first half and held a slim 19-16 lead before shaking that nemis and racking up 47 points the final two periods.

Jim Davis, one of the three returning Indian starters from last season, provided the spark in the second half with his hustle and ball hawking. The 5-foot- 10 PHS forward showed some fancy ball handling and passing and ended the game with 15 points, eight assist and seven rebounds.

Red Smith was the Indians leading scorer with 16 points. Mike Reed rounded out the PHS double figure scoring with 12 markers.

Jay Rollins dropped in 14 points for the Hornets before leaving the game with a sprained ankle.

Gideon took a 19-16 lead in the first quarter over coach Jack McGowan's Mules and added eight points to that lead with an 18-10 advantage in the second period and then fought off the hard charging Mules through the second half for the victory.

Coach Richard Pyland's Bulldogs used a quick, hustling full court zone press to force the Mules into numerous mistakes.

Gideon took the victory at the free throw line as Bernie out-shot the Mules 28-27.

Gary Pyland worked the Mules over from under the basket with his deceptive moves and rebound baskets, ending the night as high man with 29 points. Virgil Sparks added 20 to the Dogs total. Ruben Whitle and SteveWard teamed for 43 points, scoring 24 and 19 points respectively in leading the Mules offense.

Tournament action resumes tonight with two first round games. Bloomfield and Parma open the action at 7 p.m. and Richland and Risco collide at 8:30.

East Prairie surprises SCCHS

ORAN — In the OHS Invitational tournament here Monday night the Delta Bobcats stormed over the Bell City Cubs 78-36, Scott Central was upset by East Prairie 67-62, and Kelly breezed past the host Eagles 76-58.

In the first game of the night the Delta Bobcats had an easy time disposing of the Bell City Cubs as coach Dan Kight's Bobcats rushed to a 17-9 first period lead. The Cubs were unable to find the range in the second period and put up ittle resistance as Delta raced to a 21-4 advantage and led at the half 31-13. With Marshall Storder, Bill Martin, and Carson Kelly leading the way the Bobcats couldn't be contained in the second half as Delta outscored the Cubs 40-23.

Stroder ended the game with 17 points, Martin scored 14, and Kelly hit 11. Mark Brown hit 16 for the Cubs.

The East Prairie Eagles of coach Steve Doren upset the third seeded Scott Central Braves as both teams turned the ball over enough times to make any coach have an upset stomach.

SCHS led 14-13 after the first period but fumbled the ball away too many times in the second period and fell behidn 20-12, to trail 33-26 at the half.

Leroy Bradley did most of the damage in the half and the Eagles held Kenny Bright to 10 points in the game. Bradley ended the game with 23 points.

The Braves opened the third period with numerous fumbles and the Eagles hit the hoop for a 16-9 advantage in the quarter. Coach Cookson's wild bunch began to hit the hoop in the last period and made a valliant effort to pull the game out of the fire but time ran out. Danny Peet was the leading scorer for the Braves with 12 points.

In the last game of the night the number two seeded Kelly Hawks jumped out in front of the injury riddled Oran Eagles 20-14 at the end of the first quarter and breezed the rest of the way for the win.

Mike Brasher led the Hawks in scoring with 22 points. 6-4 Russ Mothershead pumped in 18. Matt LeGrand led the Oran Eagles with 22 points.

PINCHER CREEK, Alta. (AP) — Goaltender Alan Hayden made 97 saves Saturday night in a heroic attempt to keep Pincher Creek in a Ranchland Senior Hockey League game against Vulcan.

It wasn't enough. Vulcan won 27-1.

FOSTORIA, Ohio (AP) — Charles Wolph II, an 8-year-old third-grade pupil, predicts college football outcomes better than adult experts for the Fostoria Review-Times.

Young Wolph picked 130 of 165 games this season correctly, finishing seven games in front of his nearest competitor.

He's the son of Chuck Wolph, the newspaper's sports editor who finished 15 games behind. "The less said about it the better," growled the older Wolph.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — David Jaynes of Kansas, perhaps the best pro prospect among this season's crop of college quarterbacks, was added to the West roster Monday for the 49th Shrine East-West Football Game.

Mike Boryla of Stanford, another of the nation's leading passers, has been invited to play in the all-star game here Dec. 29 and may be added to the squad later.

Jaynes was one of nine players placed on the West roster Monday. The others were Montana State defensive tackle Bill Kollar, Brigham Young defensive back David Atkinson, Oklahoma State defensive end Glen Robinson, Louisiana Tech receiver Roger Carr, Washington State offensive tackle Tom Wickert, Pacific defensive lineman Larry Bailey, Oklahoma State linebacker Cleveland Vann and Kansas linebacker Don Good.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tickets for the 12-round Joe FrazierMuhammad Ali match, scheduled for Jan. 28 at Madison Square Garden, go on sale Tuesday at the Felt Forum box office and at Ticketron outlets, the Garden said Monday.

Tickets for the bout will be priced at $100, $75, $50, $40, $30 and $20. Each sale is limited to four tickets per person with no mail orders accepted.

MONTREAL (AP) — Frank Mahovlich of the Montreal Canadiens will be presented with the first set of Olympic coins before Wednesday night's hockey game here against the Los Angeles Kings' the National Hockey League club announced Monday night.

The presentation will be made by Postmaster-General Andre Ouellet in recognition of Mahovlich's contribution to hockey in Canada.

BASEBALL

NEW YORK — Gary Matthews, outfielder for the San Francisco Giants, was named the National League's Rookie of the Year for 1973

TENNIS

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill., defeated Arthur Ashe of Miami 6-4, 7-6, 6-3 and won the men's singles title in the South African Open Tennis Tournament.

BUENO AIRES — No. 2 seed Julie Heldman, a London-based New Yorker, defeated Argentina's Beatrice Araujo 6-2, 60 to reach the finals of the $40,000 Argentine Open Tournament.

Alabama No. 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flattery is great, says Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant. But there is no substitute for results.

The Crimson Tide of Alabama replaced Ohio State as the nation's top-ranked college football team in this week's Associated Press poll.

"I'm highly flattered, of course, and I certainly hope we can prove deserving," Bryant said. "Right now, though, it doesn't mean a thing unless we can beat Auburn. The squad has worked hard to attain the No. 1 ranking and it's up to us to show we deserve it."

One man who didn't agree with the poll's results was Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer, whose team finished second in the balloting.

Switzer thinks the Sooners — not Alabama, should be No. 1.

Ohio State's 10-10 tie with Ohio State realigned the poll results with Oklahoma, which had been third, moving up to No. 2, the Buckeyes dropping to third and Michigan maintaining fourth place.

Notre Dame and Penn State, like Alabama unbeaten and untied, remained fifth and sixth, respectively, and remained in contention for the national title, which will be decided following the bowl games on New Year's Day.

Alabama, which beat Louisiana State 21-7 last Thursday, received 36 first-place votes and 1,176 points from the nationwide panel of 63 AP member sports writers and sportscasters.

Oklahoma, which beat Nebraska 27-0 last Friday, garnered 20 first-place votes and 1,095 points. Ohio State collected two first-place ballots and 892 points while Michigan got one No. 1 vote and 876 points.

Notre Dame, a 48-15 Thanksgiving Day victor over Air Force, received two first-place votes and 832 votes while Penn State, which capped its regular 11-0 season with a 35-13 victory over Pitt, earned the remaining first-place vote and 726 points.

Southern Cal used a 23-13 victory over UCLA to climb from ninth to seventh place. LSU's loss to the Crimson Tide dropped the Tigers from seventh to eight while Texas jumped from 11th to ninth with a 42-13 shellacking of Texas A&M.

Arizona State, a 55-19 winner over Arizona, moved up from 13th to 11th. Texas Tech was 12th, followed by Nebraska, Houston, Miami of Ohio, North Carolina State, Kansas, Maryland, Tennessee and Missouri. Maryland made its first appearnce of the season in the Top Twenty after whipping Tulane 42-9.

Clearwater AVH champ

IRONTON--- The Arcadia Valley Thanksgiving Tournament was won by Clearwater last week with a 63- 54 victory over Ellington. Host Arcadia Valley grabbed third place from Bismarck 69- 62.

In the third place game, Arcadia Valley jumped out to a 24- 18 first quarter lead and remained there for the rest of the evening. They took a 37- 36 lead to the locker room at half time after an 18- 13 second period advantage for the Bismarck Indians. In the third quarter, Arcadia Valley gained a five point edge, 19- 14, and finished the game with a 13- 12 fourth quarter advantage.

Louie Lucas was the high point man for the game with 36 points for the Indians. Teammates Grisham and Milburn added 12 points each to the effort. John Smith was the leading scorer for Arcadia Valley with 24 points. Carr was the only other double figure man for the Tigers with 16 points.

In the championship game, Clearwater and Ellington played to a 14- 14 tie in the first period but the Ellington Whippets jumped out to a 17- 11 second quarter advantage for a 31- 25 at half time. Clearwater doubled the Whippets' score in third period, 20- 10 and edged them in the final frame 18- 13 to take a 63- 54 victory.

Ellington's Danny Foster was the high point man with 23 points. Mann of the Whippets added 10 points to the effort. Carey Bark was the leading scorer for Clearwater with 22 points. Smith and Twidwell were in double figures for Clearwater with 14 and 12 points respectively.

Wild Bill's predictions

After last week's perfect night I will have to really bear down to match that score. Tournaments are on tap this week and there are usually upsets as some teams get the tournament jitters and make enough mistakes for their opponent to pull out the win.

Bernie invitational--- Risco vs Richland--- The Risco Tigers look very good on occasion as a young team will do and I think the Tigers will be good enough to down the Richland Rebels--- 70- 67.

Parma vs Bloomfield--- The Pirates have too much experience and ability to fail against the Wildcats.--- 81- 52.

Woodland invitational--- Advance should romp over the Bulldogs on their way to a show down with another bunch of Bulldogs, Notre Dame--- 87- 50.

Greenville vs Meadow Heights--- The Panthers will be hard pressed before disposing of the Greenville Bears--- 65- 62.

Farmington Invitational--- Flat River vs Leadwood--- Leadwood finsihed last season strong but lost some important players. I don't know much about Flat River but the Purple Pups should come out on top--- 67- 60.

Fredericktown vs Farmington--- Farmington is my pick but I know nothing about either team--- 50- 49.

Van Buren at Couch--- Couch hasn't had a team since Stan Whitson left--- The Bulldogs in an easy one--- 75- 50.

Dexter at Malden--- The Bearcats open their season with a win--- 67- 64.

Charleston at Heath, Ky--- Missouri doesn't play the same kind of basketball as our neighbors and the Bluejays are rebuilding--- Heath 78- Charleston 60.

Corning, Ark. at Neelyville--- The Tigers have everything they need to win this one--- 76- 68.

Lilbourn at East Prairie--- The Panthers will start slow and finish fast- Leroy Bradley and Steve Husk will not be enough--- 80- 70.

Winona at Eminence--- Winona by five--- 60- 55.

Cooter at Gosnell--- After the Clarkton game the Wildcats have a long losing season to look forward to--- Arkansas to tough--- 85- 60.

Lesterville at Ellsinore--- Lesterville will take this one— 65- 50.

College High at Valle of Ste. Genevieve---- The Preps will win easy 65- 60.

Chaffee at Portageville--- The Bulldogs are my choice in this one--- 70- 60.

Bond asks for law lowering speed limit

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Christopher S. Bond asked legislators Monday to pass a law lowering the speed limit and to give him emergency powers to meet energy shortages.

Bond spoke to a joint meeting of the Missouri Energy Council—a voluntary citizens group—and a House Committee on Energy Monday at the University of Missouri.

Bond has called a special session of the legislature next Monday to deal with the energy problem, state reorganization and campaign financing.

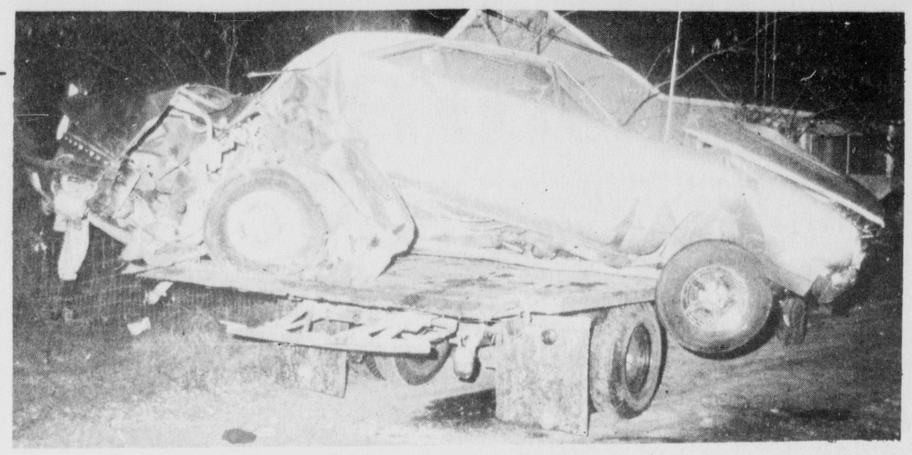
The governor has not specified a speed limit, but has said he is in favor of 60 miles per hour. The limit now is 70.

Bond said the flying time of state airplanes will be reduced by 20 per cent and "we will accelerate our efforts to provide better insulation in state buildings. Our ultimate objective is a reduction of 25 per cent in the consumption of energy by state government."

The governor said the President's energy adviser, John Love, and Interior Secretary Rogers Morton told Republican governors in Memphis, Tenn., last week that "we should be prepared for a 6.8 per cent reduction in the total energy available over the next several months, primarily in oil."

In the East, where residual oil is used for generating electricity, "we can expect brownouts or other serious impacts as early as next week," he said.

Missouri is not faced with a shortage of electricity, utility representatives have said, because there is plenty of coal. However, if the electricity is transferred to the East, the current level of coal mining in Missouri may not be able to keep up with the demand.



Driver receives minor injuries

James E. Hatchel, 20, of Bernie received minor injuries at 6:25 p.m. Sunday when his car, above, skidded off the road, breaking off a utility pole and telephone pole. The highway patrol said Hatchel was traveling at a high rate of speed, and the accident occurred when a farm tractor made a left turn in front of his car. Hatchel was taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

Wills come before Probate

BENTON— Eight wills came up for probate before Judge John H. Sides in Probate Court for the week ending Nov. 23.

Charles H. Moose, deceased: demand filed.

Frank Nelson, agent for Norlen Inc., by Bankamericard, appeared before the court and presented his claim against the estate in the sum of $216.51 which was examined, approved and ordered filed.

W. V. McArthur, deceased: inventory filed and recorded.

Shirley McArthur appeared before the court and presented his inventory and appraisement in the estate which was examined, approved, ordered filed and recorded.

Elvis E. Eaton, deceased: proof of publication of notice of granting letters of administration filed.

Presented to the court was proof of publication of notice of granting letters of administration in the estate, which was published in The Daily Standard, a daily newspaper, showing dates of publication as Oct. 27 and Nov. 3, 10, and 17, which was examined and ordered filed.

James Owen Chambers, Wancy Lee Chambers and Mary Ann Chambers, minors: order to withdraw funds and to close accounts.

Clementine Chambers, guardian of the estate, asked for authority to withdraw funds and close accounts of minors, with funds to be used for the welfare, care, maintenance and education of children and for payment of attorney fees.

It was then ordered, adjudged and decreed that the guardian be authorized to withdraw funds and close accounts and use the money for said purposes.

Green Moore Greer, Jr., deceased: finding and order discharging administrator.

Green Berry Greer III., administrator, presented to the court his final settlement of the estate which was approved and the court ordered the administrator and his sureties be discharged and released from all duties.

Charles A. Stubbs, deceased: order.

Ben Marie Stubbs, executrix of the estate requested authority to take possession of the real property which was granted by the court which further ordered that she rent the property and that she, in due time, make an accounting of income from the real property of the estate.

Beatrice Lenore Dempster, deceased: appointment of appraiser.

The court ordered that Kenneth L. Dement be appointed appraiser to fix the clear market value of the estate of deceashed which is subject to payment of taxes under the provisions of the transfer and inheritance tax of the state of Missouri recorded in Inheritance Tax Record No. 4.

Richard Dale Crowley, minor: annual settlement.

Maxine Haney guardian of the estate, presented her accounts and vouchers for annual settlement in estate in which she charged herself $2,167.04, showing no disbursements, leaving a balance due in the estate of $2,167.04 which was examined, approved, ordered filed and recorded.

Nixon to make returns public

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has promised six senators to open some of his federal income tax returns to public review this week, says Sen. J. Bennett Johnston Jr.

The Louisiana Democrat said Nixon disclosed his intention at a meeting Monday night with four Democratic and two Republican senators, including Johnston.

A White House spokesman confirmed that Nixon mentioned the subject during the session, and said he will "have something to say about it in the coming days.

No president has ever made such a disclosure and Johnston said Nixon expressed the hope his move would not set precedents.

Johnston said the President indicated he would provide copies of his actual returns and not a summary. "He said these would vindicate his position," Johnston said.

In a news conference with The Associated Press Managing Editors Association on Nov. 17 the President acknowledged the truth of reports that he paid "nominal amounts" in federal taxes in 1970 and 1971 because he had claimed a $500,000 tax exemption on the donation of his vice presidential papers to the government.

Johnston said the President did not say which years would be covered by his disclosure or how or precisely when that disclosure would be made."

Johnston, and Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, said the discussion was friendly and dwelt mainly on such issues as the Middle East and the energy crisis, with a smaller amount of time devoted to the Watergate scandals.

"We talked about football for what I thought was an inordinately long period of time," Johnston said.

But he said he believed that the fact that the President was willing to discuss Watergate but instead was asked mainly about other things "was perhaps indicative of the fact he is beginning to come out of the woods on that particular problem."

Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., refused to comment on the session. Also attending but not immediately reached were Sens. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., and Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo.

What's the law?

The case of the bouncing patient

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Uneasy is the tooth that wears a crown and Leroy's worst fears were realized. He went to the dentist and was told that the tooth had to come out. Fraught with fear, he sat in the dental chair as the dentist gave him a dose of laughing gas.

When the dentist stepped out of the room for a moment, his tenseness disappeared and a broad smile crept up on his face. He began to giggle and laugh. Soon he was laughing so hard that he rocked right out of the dental chair, mirthfully rolled along a wall and out of an open window.

Falling two stories, Leroy first ended up in a hospital and then in court where he sued the dentist for his injuries.

"I can't be blamed for what happened," insisted the dentist in court. "I stepped out of the room for only a minute and Leroy stepped out of the window. When I saw him last, he was sleeping like a baby."

"And I bounced like one too," retorted Leroy, "when I hit the pavement. Having given me the laughing gas, he should have either stayed in the room or kept his window closed."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit the bouncing patient to colect for his injuries?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that the reaction of a patient under laughing gas is unpredictable. Some patients will laugh, others will cry, many will fight, etc. Under the circumstances, concluded the judge, a dentist must guard against the unexpected effects of the gas upon a patient to whom he may administer it.

St. Louis using trash to power generators

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The use of trash as a fuel to run electric generators may help get rid of the solid wastes of the nation's cities but will never make much of a dent in the energy crisis, says the head of a trash-fuel project here.

"If we burned all of the trash produced by the two to three million residents of the sevencounty area surrounding St. Louis, it would still provide only 5 to 10 per cent of the total fuel needed to power Union Electric's power plants," said David Klumb, an engineer for the utility. "We would still need a lot of coal."

For the past year, Klumb has been working the bugs out of a system that shreds St. Louis trash and feeds it to a huge boiler at the utility's Meramec power plant. So far, the project has had mixed results.

"I have to say I'm cautiously optimistic that we can make our system work. We've had some problems in the past year, but I feel the basic system is sound and we can go ahead and think about expansion to handle the trash for the whole area," said Klumb.

The engineer is quick to point out, however, that the trashfuel project does more than provide a small percentage of the utility's fuel and reduce solid waste problems.

"What we are really talking about is a recovery process. Right now the city is removing the ferrous materials, the iron and steel, from the trash with magnets and selling the material to Granite City Steel, where it is being recycled.

"And now we are working on ways of removing copper, aluminum and other valuable metals from the trash before it is fed to the furnace," he said.

One of the early problems encountered by the project resulted from glass in the trash. Engineers at the plant soon learned the glass was wearing out carbon steel pipes from the inside as trash was blown through pneumatic tubes from a storage silo to the furnace. At each bend, the glass chipped away at the pipes until it wore holes through them.

The plant also found it is creating its own solid-waste disposal problem by burning the trash. Chunks of wood, metal and heavy plastic in the trash have a tendency to fall through the furnace without burning. This residue is sluiced from the ash pit and pumped to settling ponds, where it is piling up.

Ash from pulverized coal, the main fuel at the plant, also piles up, but it is sold by the ton to manufacturers of cement blocks and to street and highway departments that use it on snow-covered roads.

The problems of the glass and residue may be eliminated soon by a new piece of equipment added to the city's tras shredding facility.

"They are working to perfect their 'classifier,' an apparatus that will effectively separate the heavy materials from the predominantly paper trash," Klumb said. "That will help a lot."

The engineer said the environmental effects of burning the trash with low-sulfur coal have yet to be tested in the air and water around the plant.

"We are starting our own tests soon, and the Environmental Protection Agency will also run some tests," he said. "But I believe the emissions from our stacks will be clean."

The funds for the $3-million project, called the only one of its kind in the country, are being provided by the federal government, the utility and the city, with the EPA picking up about two-thirds of the tab.

The 1972 hurricane season was the quietest in 42 years according to the National Hurricane Center. The low hurricane activity was attributed to three unusual conditions—lower sea temperatures in the Atlantic, a stationary intertropical convergence zone and widely varied wind currents. The World Almanac notes.

Prayer for today
from the Upper Room

The Lord said unto Joshua, Get thee up; wherefore liest thou thus upon thy face? (Joshua 7:10)

PRAYER: Lord, teach us to be more concerned, more aware of our spiritual shortcomings than of our material failures. Help us to know that forgiveness is with Thee. Teach us to forget the things that are behind and to press forward--in new faith, with new joy, with rekindled purpose. In His name. Amen.

Senate to vote today on Ford nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is close to a vote on President Nixon's nomination of House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford as vice president.

A roll call vote was set for late afternoon, with only one senator having announced he would vote against confirmation of the veteran Michigan congressman.

Ford was nominated by President Nixon Oct. 12 to replace Spiro T. Agnew, who resigned after pleading no contest to a charge of income tax evasion.

The nomination was the first under the 25th Amendment adopted in 1967. It provides that if the office of vice president becomes vacant, a successor shall be nominated by the president subject to confirmation by majority vote of the Senate and the House.

The House is expected to vote on Ford's nomination late next week. Its Judiciary Committee completed six days of hearings Monday.

The only senator to announce he would vote against confirmation was William D. Hathaway, D-Maine, who said his stand should not be interpreted as any reflection on Ford's character or qualifications.

Hathaway told the Senate that with Nixon undergoing an impeachment investigation, consideration of any nominee for vice president is improper.

Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., of the Senate Rules Committee, which conducted hearings on the nomination, said it found no bar to Ford's confirmation after putting him "under the microscope of public scrutiny."

At a news conference Monday night in Hauppauge, N.Y., before a dinner speech, Ford said he was "very definitely ruling myself out as a presidential candidate ... in '76 and certainly for any time thereafter." He said that represented his present thinking and "I can't speculate beyond saying what my present intention is."

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Limit declines in farm commodity futures, a carryover from the previous session, were posted in early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

On the opening, soybeans were down 20 cents a bushel, January 5.89; wheat was 5½ to 11 lower, December 4.59; corn was 5 to 10 lower, December 2.52½ and oats were 3½ to 6 lower, December 1.20.

Teen program would fight birth defects

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Teen Action Program (TAP) will hold a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in First Federal Savings and Loan Building, 325 Broadway in Cape Girardeau for teen-agers interested in forming a Southeast Missouri chapter of the youth organization to fight against birth defects.

TAP's is a teen organization of the March off Dimes and was founded in Phoenix as a Teens against Polio group which was effective in promoting the Salk vaccine of the early 1950s. The odds of one out of every 14 babies born in the U.S. having some kind of birth defect prompted the current program's formation.

Malden Council gives RSVP office space

MALDEN — The City Council Monday night voted to allow Marjorie Lee, chairman of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, office space in the community building for the coming year.

The council also voted to erect a three by five foot sign to identify the building.

The council decided to give hams and turkeys as Christmas gifts to city employes.

A letter was read to the council from Dr. William L. Troxel, an opthalmologist from Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff, asking the city to pass legislation to control the use of BB guns. No action was taken.

Cape drug store burglarized

CAPE GIRARDEAU-- Finney Drug Store, 709 Broadway, was burglarized Sunday night of $20 cash and an undetermined amount of drugs.

Metal bars on a rear door were sawed off to gain entry.

French and English farmers inserted pieces of their Yule log in their plows to make the crops thrive.

Wearing green leaves inside your hat was once thought to prevent sunstroke.

Fire only chicken

Firemen raced to the Dunn Hotel at 9:35 a.m. today when smoke was reportedly smelled in the building at the corner of Malone Avenue and New Madrid Street. Good luck favored both the hotel and the fire department when the smoke was discovered to be coming from chicken legs left in a pot on a stove in the back kitchen. No damage was reported.

Today in U.S. History

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 27th, the 331st day of 1973. There are 34 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, during World War II, French navy men at Toulon, France, scuttled ten French cruisers, 28 destroyers and 14 submarines to prevent them from falling into the hands of the Nazis.

On this date—

In the year 602, the Roman emperor Maurice and his five sons were beheaded at Chalcedon in Asia Minor.

In 1703, a coastal storm in England took an estimated 8,000 lives.

In 1919, Bulgaria signed a World War I peace treaty which yielded territory to Greece and Yugoslavia.

In 1940, during World War II, Germany annexed the French province of Lorraine.

southern part of New Madrid County from Hayti would be too great.

Wallace said it was recognizable that the immediate area of the south boundary of the county (Portageville) might be reached in acceptable time, but this would not be the case for areas farther into the county such as Marston, Tallapoosa and Risco and Parma.

Wallace said approval of an ambulance for Southern New Madrid County was expected if it were based and operated from New Madrid, Marston or Portageville.

Police returned to the motel and told McIntosh they wanted to search his room. He told them they could. Police said they found the gun and a sack full of money and money orders taken from the store.

A 12- year - old girl, also found in the room, was turned over to her parents.

McIntosh is also wanted by federal authorities for parole violation, two counts of car theft and possession of firearms. He is wanted in Kentucky on two counts of armed robbery, escape from custody, grand larceny, and contributing to the delinquency of a minor and underage possession of alcohol. He is also wanted by Virginia police for seven counts of armed robbery.

In other cases in Magistrate Court today, Larry Ray Marcus of Matthews was granted a change of venue to Mississippi County to face charges of assault. A capias warrant was issued for Eddie Jarvis of Poplar Bluff for failing to appear in charges of theft.

Donna Ray, 321 Greer, bogus check, continued to Wednesday; Ronald Lee Hazel, of Lake Horn, Miss., non-support, granted a change of venue to Circuit Court.

Schools get microfilm

EAST PRAIRIE — The R-2 Board of Education in regular session Monday night approved the use of a microfilm service and leasing of a printer- reader machine from the 3-M and Microfilm Products Co. of St. Louis.

The final service, which will provide security and convenience and storage of students' permanent records, will cost an estimated $285 to film records dating back to 1956. A $25 fee will be charged to film approximately 100 records each following year. In additon to the film cartridges, stored at the local high school, the company will also store a copy of each tape.

The board approved leasing the printer- reader machine for a three- year period at $70 a month. At the end of the three- year contract, 90 per cent of the rental fee will go toward the purchase price.

The new program will be used in conjunction with the present computer scheduling program and the computer analysis and grade reporting programs, which will be incorporated next year.

Superintendent Gerald McElrath reported expenditures for the school lunch program were exceeding receipts due to the rise in food costs. The board voted to maintain the present cost for another two months.

McElrath also reported that attendance in the district was down by 75 students from last year.

The district will be represented at a conference for school administrators and board of education members in Columbia from Jan. 13 to Jan. 15 and on Nov. 30 the district will be represented at a hearing in Jefferson City on the changes in distribution of state funds to school districts.

To conserve fuel for heating, thermostats in classrooms will be set at 70 degrees and hallways at 65 degrees during the day. At night and on weekends, thermostats will be turned down to 60 degrees.

Bus drivers have been instructed to maintain a speed limit of 50 miles per hour and only necessary bus trips will be made to conserve gasoline.

Chaffee Council accepts attorney's resignation

CHAFFEE — A letter from John Bradsahw was read during the regular meeting of the Chaffee City Council Monday night stating that due to ill health he was resigning as city attorney. The council accepted his resignation and is looking for a replacement.

The council agreed to let auxiliary policemen help members of the police force on the shift from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.

It was agreed by the council to give $50 to the Law Enforcement Crime Laboratory in Cape Girardeau for their 1974 budget.

The council voted not to use lights on Christmas decorations because of the fuel shortage.

A committee was appointed to check the city hall for repair work needed due to storm damage.

The council announced that J. A. Chronister of Chaffee will serve a three year term on the park board.

It was recommended by the council that a sidewalk, instead of a street, be added between Third St. and Easy St. It was suggested that interested persons pay for the material to build the sidewalk and the city do the work.
